Flies To Safe Viet Nam Base

... SAYS 'WE DEPEND ON YOU'

Cam Ranh Bay, Viet Nam (AP)—President Johnson, as commander-in-chief of U.S. forces, flew here in war-time secrecy Wednesday and rubbed shoulders with the Cam Ranh Bay contingent of the 330,000 American fighting men in Viet Nam.

He told them: "We in America depend on you, the young and on the brave, to stop aggression before it sweeps forward for then it must be stopped by larger sacrifice and a heavier cost."

Alircraft Circle
Fighter planes and armed helicopters circled overhead for protection as Johnson arrived at this relatively secure seacoast base north of Saigon. He spent 2 hours and 24 minutes mingling with the troops, shaking hands, joking, awarding medals and signing "LBJ" autographs.

The President grew emotional as he expressed deep satisfaction with the American fighting man.

Men in battle dress, some toting field packs and rifles, others swathed in bandages and plaster casts, greeted Johnson with lusty cheers. In the crowd were pilots just back from aerial strikes against communist forces in South Viet Nam.

"LBJ All The Way"
As Johnson moved among the men, shaking hands and patting them on the back, there were cries of "LBJ all the way."

Secrecy and security surrounded the 1,470-mile flight from Manila and back. Four F4 Phantom jets covered the approach of his distinctive blue-and-silver jet transport. Vietnamese were banished from the base while he was present lest their numbers include Viet Cong sympathizers. Live ammunition was withdrawn from many of the rifle-carrying troops on the sprawling premises.

Johnson savors surprise and drama—and he does not shy away from emotion. All these elements were present—plus some corny but nice touches like a guitar-toting trio of enlisted men serenading Johnson in a mess hall with barely rhymed verses sung to "The Yellow Rose of Texas."

But most of all there was Johnson himself—closer to ground combat than any president since Abraham Lincoln toured a Civil War battlefield.

Not since World War II, and Franklin D. Roosevelt, has any chief executive ventured into a war zone. Dwight D. Eisenhower went to Korea in 1952, but as president-elect.

Johnson was at one moment the ramrod-stiff commander-in-chief; then he would become the friendly, joking politician.

And there was the weight-conscious middle-aged man shaking his head and patting his stomach at the sight of mashed potatoes in the chow line, then accepting a heaping portion with gravity.

The President's big message was this: "I give you my pledge: We shall never let you down . . . Thank you for what you are doing for your country."

"Make no mistake about it," Johnson said, "the American people whom you serve are proud of you. There are some who may disagree with what we are doing here, but that is not the way most of us feel and act when freedom and the nation's security are in danger . . .

"Worth Price"
Once peace comes to Viet Nam, he observed, "the whole world will acknowledge that what you have done here was worth the price."

Corregidor Where LBJ Disappears

Manila (AP)—Wednesday, before his swift visit to Viet Nam, President Johnson went first to the historic island of Corregidor, the "rock" of World War II. Then, in effect, he disappeared from public view, and amidst great secrecy took off across the South China Sea.

The President was missing from the Philippines just under seven hours. His schedule had called for a speech to U.S. embassy personnel. Mrs. Johnson appeared there in his place, apologizing that the President had "other commitments."

Johnson was back in his suite with Mrs. Johnson at the Manila Hotel before many realized he had been missing at all.

On Corregidor, the President took a look at the Malinta Tunnel, once headquarters for Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

He then drove up a road to view one of the rusting artillery placements where U.S. gunners fired at Japanese across the bay on Bataan Peninsula.

Recalling the days of World War II when Philippine and U.S. soldiers fought side by side on Corregidor, the President said in a brief speech: "The Filipinos demonstrated . . . their recognition that the United States, whatever its aims in the past, shared their aspirations for a free, democratic and proudly Philippine nationhood."

Tiemann Sees Victory

By DON WALTON

It was 9:15 p.m. and raining in West Omaha when Nobby Tiemann entered J. Sterling Morton Junior High School to address a meeting of Second Ward Republican campaign workers.

"We're on our way to a clean sweep victory in 1966," Tiemann told them, slicing the air with his left hand.

"We've got victory in our grasp if we'll work at it." Fifteen months ago, Norbert Tiemann was a relatively unknown banker in tiny (pop. 724) Wausa in north-east Nebraska.

Primary Triumph,
Today, after the longest sustained campaign in the state's political history and an impressive primary triumph over four opponents, including former Gov. Val Peterson, Tiemann is the betting man's favorite in the governor's race.

Gen. Taylor Arrives Here To Address NSEA Meeting

Gen. Maxwell Taylor, special consultant to President Lyndon Johnson, arrived in Lincoln late Wednesday to deliver a "Viet Nam Report" to the District I Nebraska State Education Association convention Thursday morning.

Gen. Taylor also will address the NSEA District II convention in Omaha Friday morning.

Taylor, a former chief of staff of the Army, former ambassador to Viet Nam and former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, is currently a special assistant to the President on matters of diplomatic, military, strategic and economic problems.

Declined Comment
The distinguished gray-haired general declined to comment on his work for the President or about recent developments in the Viet Nam conflict and peace efforts.

Dr. R. L. Fredstrom, assistant superintendent in charge of curriculum for the Lincoln Public Schools, and his wife met Gen. Taylor at the airport.

Sharing the convention speaker's platform at Pershing Auditorium with the General Thursday morning will be Dr. Loren Bonneau of the University of Nebraska's Teachers College and John Lynch, NSEA executive secretary.

Between 4,500-4,800 District I teachers and guests are expected to register for the two-day convention here, according to President Mrs. Mildred Conkling of Crete.

New district officers will be elected and announced Thursday afternoon.

Luncheons Set
Luncheons are scheduled throughout the city at noon for the Association for Childhood Education International, officers and delegates-elect, foreign language, library, music, retired, special education and speech teachers.

Some 48 sectional meetings for special areas of elementary, junior high and senior high curriculum will be held all afternoon and evening.

Highlighting the second day's session Friday will be speaker Carl Rowan, former head of the United States Information Agency. Currently a journalist and syndicated columnist, Rowan is a former U.S. ambassador to Finland and former deputy assistant secretary of state for public affairs.

Also speaking Friday morning will be Joe Chandler, retired education association professional.

Luncheons and sectional meetings in special curriculum areas also will be featured during Friday's session of the District I convention.

Randolph Proposes Big Plan To Bury Poverty

New York (AP)—A multi-billion-dollar "freedom budget," designed by leading economists to wipe out poverty in the United States by 1975, was proposed Wednesday by civil rights leader A. Philip Randolph.

Randolph, president of the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, was backed in the proposal by other civil rights leaders, including Executive Director Roy Wilkins of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and Bayard Rustin, planner of the 1963 March on Washington.

New York's senators, Republican Jacob K. Javits and Democrat Robert F. Kennedy, also were reported to have promised support for the program and assured Randolph a hearing in the Senate in January.

Reuther 'Excited'
Strong support for the plan as "an exciting blueprint for victory" came from Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers and AFL-CIO vice president.

The program proposes a minimum wage of $2 an hour by 1968 or 1969, guaranteed income for the jobless, job projects and job training to achieve full employment of the employable, 100,000 new public school classrooms and an equal number of additional teachers, doubled expenditures for hospital construction and a 50% increase in medical school graduates.

Randolph told a news conference the "freedom budget" was designed to weld together the current anti-poverty program, which it would expand, and other economic proposals, and to introduce a new element—the deadline.

"We propose and insist," he said, "that poverty in America can and therefore must be abolished within 10 years."

$185 Billion
The program foresees an increase in the federal budget from the current $112.8 billion to an eventual $155 billion a year, the additional federal spending totalling some $185 billion over 10 years.

The economists' report said that even if the Viet Nam war is expanded, the increased domestic spending would not put "an excessive strain" on the economy. Its costs would be met, the report said, by production increases from a greater number of workers with increased incomes.

Among those working out the proposal were Leon Keyserling, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers under President Harry Truman, and Harvard economists John Kenneth Galbraith and Michael Harrington.

High Priority Plan Urged For Streets

... DESPITE FUND OBSTACLE

By BOB SCHIREP
Star Staff Writer

The City-County Planning Commission annual report for 1965-66, noting that "the great obstacle to progress is the shortage of funds," has recommended to the City Council and County Board a five-point "high priority" street program which again includes emphasis on the proposed Northeast Radial.

The program:

—Extension of the South-east Radial.

—Development of the Northeast Radial and the bypass around the University of Nebraska campus to permit the closing of 14th, 16th and 17th through the campus.

—Prompt adoption of the proposed system of distributor streets around the downtown area as outlined in the Comprehensive Regional Plan and the Barton-Aschman report.

—Opening of 33rd St. through Antelope Park.

—Continued development of 15th St. between the Capitol and the university.

The commission has recommended similar goals in past reports.

"The commission understands and thoroughly sympathizes with the knotty problems of finance that confront you," the report said.

Commission chairman E. J. Faulkner underscored the "urgent importance of developing ways and means of financing promptly the construction of the principal elements in the urban highway program."

"Inability so far to finance the Northeast Radial highway has required patch work improvement of other streets such as Vine St. which are called upon to carry a heavy traffic load until the desired radial development can be accomplished," he wrote.

"Appropriate internal development of the University campus is impeded and delayed by the fact that the bypass around the campus has not been brought into being," said Faulkner.

The report for the year ending July 31 also noted:

—Subdivision activity in Lincoln and the county continued for the second year in a row at a substantially lower level than in 1963 and 1964.

17 subdivisions were approved incorporating 472 lots. This compares with 19 subdivisions and 811 lots approved between Aug. 1, 1964, and July 31, 1965.

The planning department has done a great deal of work on neighborhood analysis and in connection with a new housing ordinance, both requisites to the establishment of a workable program for housing acceptable to the federal authorities.

Flare-Begun Fire Kills 43, Puts Carrier Out Of Action

Salon — A raging fire that broke out in a locker containing night illumination flares swept through five decks of the U.S. aircraft carrier Oriskany Wednesday, killing 43 men and putting the warship out of action as a floating base for air strikes against North Viet Nam.

The fire started about 7:45 a.m., shortly before President Johnson visited American troops at the big U.S. base in Cam Ranh Bay, 180 miles northeast of Saigon. Sixteen other men were injured seriously in the blaze. Two helicopters were destroyed and four A4E Skyhawk jet fighter-bombers were damaged. The carrier, a veteran of the Korean War, sailed under her own power Thursday for the Philippines to undergo repairs.

The injured crewmen were flown to a hospital at the Subic Bay Naval Base, where the Oriskany will be repaired.

World News

Fast action by plane crews and fire fighters prevented rockets, bombs and fuses from going off, and a great loss of life and equipment. The Navy launched an investigation into the cause of the fire, which raged out of control for three hours.

In Washington, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, who had visited the Oriskany two weeks ago during a tour of Viet Nam, extended his "heartfelt sympathies" to the men of the carrier.

Also in Washington, Pentagon sources said the Oriskany will be replaced in its station by either the attack carrier Intrepid or Coral Sea, both now cruising in the western Pacific.

Taking Up Slack
Officials emphasized that the air war against North Viet Nam will not suffer because any slack operations will be taken up by the carriers remaining on "Yankee Station" in the Gulf of Tonkin off the coast of North Viet Nam.

The 42,000-ton Oriskany was on its second tour to launch air strikes against the communist North.

Flames erupted on the hangar deck, just below the flight deck, then quickly spread to envelope five decks, including the forward officers quarters and the catapult areas from where planes are launched, the Navy said.

Plane Elevator Out
Some of the carrier's electrical circuits and the forward plane elevator were destroyed. There also was extensive damage to interior areas of the 21-year-old aircraft carrier.

Flash fires continued to break out in various places for several hours after the fire was brought under control. But these were quickly extinguished.

Plane crews quickly moved aircraft from the catapult and forward areas of the flight deck and from the burning hangar deck. The Franklin D. Roosevelt and the Constellation, the two other carriers in the Gulf of Tonkin, quickly closed in around the Oriskany to assist it.

Aid Via 'Copters
Both carriers sent helicopters carrying additional doctors, corpsmen and chaplains to the Oriskany.

"The firefighters were extremely brave in charging into the dense smoke and flames to quell the blaze," said Commander T. T. Brown, executive officer of the Oriskany.

The Oriskany carries about 70 airplanes of Carrier Air Wing 16 and about 3,500 men.

In other war developments: —Monsoon storms continued to cut heavily into U.S. air strikes against the north. Pilots flew only 62 bombing missions, half the usual daily number.

—High-flying B52 bombers from Guam pounded a suspected Viet Cong troop concentration and training site 17 miles northwest of Quang Ngai City near the central coast.

'Lani Bird' Lofted; 2-Ignition Hex Lifted

Cape Kennedy, Fla. (AP) — A Comsat Corp. satellite nicknamed "Lani Bird" swept into orbit Wednesday as a major step toward establishing the first commercial communications space link across the Pacific Ocean.

The satellite's departure from Cape Kennedy atop a fiery three-stage Delta rocket capped a U.S. space double-header, coming less than 13 hours after a powerful Atlas-Centaur rocket shattered a long-time scientific jinx and handed the United States a new muscle to toss heavy payloads to the moon and planets.

The satellite, a Comsat Corp. spokesman said, was nicknamed "Lani" after the Hawaiian word for "bird of heaven."

It was aimed first for a cigar-shaped orbit ranging from 22,300 to 223 miles above earth.

Collecting Data
Project officials planned to keep the spacecraft in this orbit for three days — until enough tracking data was obtained to fire a spacecraft motor that would cause the satellite to hover in a stationary position, relative to earth, 22,300 miles above the Pacific.

A complete success was expected to eventually clear the way for the first live television pictures from Viet Nam battlefields.

The "Lani Bird" launch followed a success earlier Wednesday when a 113-foot-tall Atlas-Centaur rocket achieved America's first double ignition of high-energy, hydrogen-fueled engines in space.

Apollo Confidence
Wednesday's success not only fully qualified Centaur to launch expensive lunar and planetary spacecraft on tricky missions, but also provided confidence for the Apollo man-to-the-moon program, which requires hydrogen engines of a Saturn 5 rocket to restart in orbit to hurl three astronauts toward the moon.

Super-Cold Hydrogen
The feat proved U.S. scientists can now manage super-cold hydrogen fuel, which must be kept at 423 degrees below zero to remain liquid but develops 40% more power than chemical fuels now in use.

Problems in taming the fuel delayed Centaur's development about three years.

Lawmen Not Gagged By Court, Jurist Says

Denver, Colo. (AP) — An associate justice said Wednesday no U.S. Supreme Court decision places a gag on law officers in discussing with newsmen details of a crime before any arrests have been made.

Associate Justice Tom C. Clark said in this respect district attorneys and other officers are not bound by any recent high court ruling dealing with prejudicial trial and pre-trial publicity.

He said in an interview copyrighted by the Denver Post that these rulings were aimed at having trial judges use their authority to control prejudicial publicity "once the court has jurisdiction."

The justice came to Denver to address a meeting of law school students.

He was the author of the court's June 6 decision reversing the conviction of Dr. Sam Sheppard of Cleveland on a second-degree murder charge. Sheppard's second trial opened Monday.

Clark was asked by the Post reporter if he was aware that prosecutors and police departments frequently have contended the Sheppard decision bars them from giving out details of a criminal investigation.

"You're always going to get some people who say that one case or another controls a situation," Clark said.

Before a court has jurisdiction, he said, the decision lies with the district attorney and the police as to what they will release to the press. "Nothing we've said tells them what to do," Clark said.

He said "the exercise of good common sense" should tell officers whether pre-trial or pre-arrest publicity could be harmful to their case.

Dodd Faces Public Probe Next Year

Washington (UPI) — The Senate Ethics Committee announced Wednesday it would hold a public investigation next year into charges that Sen. Thomas J. Dodd pocketed $200,000 in campaign contributions for his personal use.

In a joint statement, chairman John C. Stennis, D-Miss., and Vice Chairman Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah, noted the public inquiry would climax a month-long investigation of allegations about the financial affairs of the 59-year-old Connecticut Democrat, an old friend and political supporter of President Johnson.

The carefully worded statement did not directly mention charges by newspaper columnists Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson that Dodd had diverted $200,000 in campaign money between 1961 and 1965 for his own use.

"I am completely confident, as I was when I asked the Ethics Committee to investigate the allegations against me, that I will be vindicated when all the facts are in," Dodd said.

RONALD . . . when he was in Viet Nam.

Marine Exemplifies Brotherly Love

Columbus, Ohio (AP) — A 19-year-old Marine volunteered to return to combat in Viet Nam so his younger brother could come home.

But before his orders could come through, the kid brother was seriously wounded.

Lance Cpl. Ronald Bennett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Bennett Sr. of suburban Grove City, did not want to go back to Viet Nam. He had spent more than a year there as an artilleryman.

Four days after he arrived his helmet was torn off by an enemy bullet. While on outpost duty, he told his mother, he stood helpless when his best friend was shot to death.

Brother Private

Ronald bore the same fate as his brother, Harold Jr. When Ronald learned that Harold, an 18-year-old private, was assigned to Viet Nam, he volunteered to go back.

He applied under a directive which says that a serviceman with a brother in Viet Nam can avoid assignment to the war zone.

Ronald expected it would take several months for Harold to arrive in Viet Nam. The big brother hoped to be there first.

He didn't make it.

Monday night Mrs. Bennett called Ronald at Camp Lejeune, N.C., to tell of a telegram advising that Harold lay seriously wounded in a hospital in Da Nang, with "fragmentation wounds to (his) entire body."

Ronald then told his parents of his action. He persisted in his plan.

"The Only Thing"

"I've got to go over there and get Junior home," he said. "It's the only thing that will save him."

"They'll patch him up and send him back in."

Mrs. Bennett explained that Ronald felt he had a better chance in Viet Nam because artillery batteries are less exposed than other combat troops.

Desire

"He couldn't get there fast enough because he wanted to equal his brother's record," said Father Leo A. Sullivan, priest who has known both boys since childhood.

"They are two of the finest young men God ever put on this earth," he said.

Their father spent six years in the Marine Corps during World War II and now is on a total disability pension. The Bennetts have five other children.

Corky, 11, recently filled out a Marine enlistment application, listing his age as 18, but was told to come back in seven years.

Wright AFB Says Charred Sphere Is 'Space Debris'

Dayton, Ohio (AP) — Officials at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base have identified a metal sphere found by a Wisconsin forest ranger as space debris which re-entered the atmosphere.

The charred object, slightly more than a foot in diameter, was found Oct. 13 near Tomahawk, Wis.

16 Named Nebraska 4-H Award Winners For '66

Twelve Nebraska 4-H club members and four former members have been named 1966 state award winners, Wesley M. Antes, state leader of 4-H and Young Men and Women at the University of Nebraska, announced.

Most of the winners will now compete in sectional and national contests for trips, scholarships, and trophies.

The four former club members who have been recognized as outstanding 4-H alumni are: Dr. Donald O. Clifton, University of Nebraska, Lincoln; Dr. O. Burr Ross, Oklahoma State University, Stillwater, Okla.; Raymond Spatz, Plainview; and Mrs. Emil Reiners, McCook. They will receive plaques from the Olin Matheson Chemical Corp., Little Rock, Ark.

Dr. Clifton, associate professor of educational psychology at NU, is associate director of the Nebraska Human Resources Research Foundation, Inc. An active YMCA member, he is Lincoln chairman of the YMCA and YWCA Lin-Co-Y youth groups, and on the national YMCA committee for high school youth. He is a member of the Parent-Teachers' Association city council, and has been a consultant and lecturer for adult 4-H training sessions the past two years.

Dr. Ross, native of Walthill and NU graduate, is presently dean of the College of Agriculture at Oklahoma State University. He was a six-year 4-H member in Nebraska and a 1932 delegate to National 4-H Camp in Washington, D.C.

Spatz, a 4-H leader for 12 years, was top dairy showman at Pierce and Antelope County fairs and a member of the Antelope County dairy judging team during his career as a 4-H member. In 1931 he was Ayrshire showmanship winner at the Nebraska State Fair and placed fifth in the National Dairy calf class at St. Louis.

Mrs. Reiners, a former five-year 4-H member, organized the first 4-H club in Hayes County.

Other winners are as follows (with age, hometown, category of award, parents, school and sponsor):

Beatrice Arff, 12, Gretna, achievement winner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Arff, freshman at University of Nebraska, Lincoln; Marka Thayer, 17, Grant, citizenship winner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Thayer, senior at Perkins County High School, Thomas Wilson Co.; Doug Marcy, 17, Hay Springs, citizenship winner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orrin Marcy, senior at Hay Springs High School, Thomas Wilson Co.; Bernadine Wright, 17, Bridgeport, leadership winner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Wright, freshman at the University of Nebraska, Kearney; Donna Hansen, 15, Davey, dog project winner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Hansen, sophomore at Ceresco High School, Hamilton-Paulina Co.; Susan Greene, 16, South Sioux City, dog project winner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marjorie Greene, senior at South Sioux City High School, Hamilton-Paulina Co.; Mark Reed, 17, Grant, forestry winner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Reed, senior at Perkins County High School, American Forest Products, Inc.; Ted Phillips, 18, Beaver Creek, photography winner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Phillips, freshman at University of Nebraska, Eastman Kodak; Judy Caha, 18, Wabeno, photography winner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leuben Caha, freshman at John F. Kennedy College, Eastman Kodak; Paula Liska, 25, Norfolk, poultry winner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Liska, junior at Norfolk High School, Heider and Nelson Farms, Inc.; James Plate, 17, North Loup, sheep winner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Plate, senior at Ord High School, Wilson & Co., Omaha; Jacqueline Hallorf, 16, Cedar Bluffs, dairy (cows) winner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Hallorf, junior at Cedar Bluffs High School, Carnation Co.

Improved Omaha Air Service Asked In Request To CAB

Omaha (U) — Omaha agencies made a double-barreled request of the Civil Aeronautics Board in their efforts to improve air service to and from Omaha.

The Omaha Airport Authority and the Chamber of Commerce Aviation Committee asked the CAB to:

—Set up an Omaha case to investigate the quality of present service and future needs between Omaha and such cities as Chicago, Kansas City, Los Angeles, New York, Minneapolis-St. Paul, Denver, San Francisco, Baltimore, Washington, St. Louis, Philadelphia, Dallas, Detroit, Boston and Seattle.

—Make Omaha a party to the Gulf State-Midwest Service Investigation being undertaken by the CAB.

Spokesmen for the Omaha interests said it is likely the Gulf State application will be considered first. In this, the Omaha proposal was endorsed by a petition filed simultaneously by the Nebraska Department of Aeronautics.

The Omaha proposals in the Gulf States case are for three basic routes:

—Twin Cities, Omaha, St. Louis and Dallas.

—Twin Cities, Omaha, Kansas City and Dallas.

—Omaha-Chicago.

Rep. Callan's Effectiveness In Washington Said Overrated

Beatrice (U) — The effectiveness of Democrat Rep. Clair Callan in Washington is "greatly overrated," Republican Sen. Roman Hruska said at a GOP fund raising dinner.

Callan is running for reelection with Robert Denney, his GOP opponent.

Hruska said Callan attempted to pass the buck to the Senate in connection with approval of funds for a 345-kilovolt transmission line to be built by the Bureau of Reclamation to Grand Island.

"Mr. Callan grandly announced that since appropriations hearings had closed in the House, it would be up to us in the Senate to obtain money for the line," Hruska said.

"For his part, he claimed, he would get an approving nod from the Budget Bureau of the House and the concurrence of the Democratic leaders in the House not to reduce the amount when the two houses met in conference."

Hruska said Bureau of the Budget approval did not provide funds, but "simply allowed the Bureau of Reclamation to rob some other project or group of projects."

"Did Not Pass Buck" He observed that appropriations hearings also had ended in the Senate when the request for funds for the transmission line were received from the Nebraska Legislature.

"But Carl Curtis and I did not pass the buck, as Mr. Callan did," he said. "We went to work and presented our case to the Public Works Committee and won approval of the project."

He said they assumed that on the basis of Callan's promises there would be no problem in the conference committee "but the fact is that the very members Mr. Callan is supposed to have talked to and got their concurrence, insisted upon cutting the figure back to $450,000."

Renewal Program Wins Backing Of Omaha's Council

Omaha (U) — The Omaha City Council adopted a Community Renewal Program estimated to cost $21 million over a six-year period and involving 17 neighborhoods.

The vote was 5 to 1.

The plan is a guide and additional action by voters and the council would be necessary to implement any of the various parts of the program.

The council, also by a 5-1 vote, decided to elevate the Human Relations Board to the status of a city department with Homer Floyd, now the board's secretary, as department director.

Two Men Hurt In Car-Truck Crash

Two persons were injured Wednesday in a car-truck accident near Unadilla on Highway 2.

Lloyd G. Hollibaugh, 55, of 5540 Lillibridge, was in "fair" condition at a Lincoln hospital with injuries suffered in the mishap. Don B. Barker, 36, of Syracuse, was reported in "satisfactory" condition.

The accident occurred when a car driven by Barker was in collision with a truck, loaded with road equipment, driven by Hollibaugh.

Celebrates 150th

Bonn (U) — West Germany sent congratulations to the 150th anniversary celebration at Mannheim of the Central Commission for Rhine River Navigation, oldest international organization in Europe. The commission was set up by the Congress of Vienna that tidied up Europe after Napoleon.

Valentine Man Escapes Death In Plane Crash

Valentine (U) — Leslie Kime, 50, Valentine rancher, walked away from the wreckage of his light airplane Wednesday after it crashed in an alfalfa field five miles south of Ell, Neb.

The Cherry County sheriff's office said the crash occurred on the Don Simmons ranch. Kime walked to the ranch house to report the accident.

He was taken to a Valentine hospital with face and head cuts.

The sheriff's office said the cause of the crash was not known. The plane was described as a total loss.

Mills Declares 5 Pct. Dividend

Omaha (U) — Directors of Nebraska Consolidated Mills have approved payment of a 5% stock dividend Nov. 25 to all stockholders of record Nov. 7.

Fractional shares resulting from the stock dividend will be combined and sold as a block and cash proceeds will be distributed to stockholders in relation to the fractional shares owned, J. A. Mactier, president, said.

On Oct. 1 Nebraska Consolidated paid a dividend of 10 cents per share, its 132nd consecutive quarterly dividend.

7th Centennial Event For Peru Planned Nov. 2

Peru (UPI) — The seventh special event commemorating the 100th academic year of Peru State College is scheduled for 9:10 a.m. Nov. 2 in the college auditorium.

The presentation, "Peru's Proud Past," will be an illustrated program of the highlights of the first century of Peru State College, Nebraska's oldest college. The public is invited.

Brule Brother, Sister Hurt On Way To School

Brule (UPI) — A Brule teenager and his younger sister were injured Wednesday in the collision of their car and a road grader on a county road three miles north of here.

Hospitalized at Ogallala with undetermined injuries were Lance Sheldon, 17, and his 14-year-old sister, Rhonda, children of Mrs. Stanley Sheldon. The family lives on a farm north of here.

Brule Superintendent of Schools Clifford Soverign said the brother and sister were enroute to school when the accident occurred.

To Present Clinic

Omaha (UPI) — Dr. Raymond W. Shaddy, dean of Creighton University's Boyne School of Dental Science, will present a clinic before the American Academy of Gold Foil in Dallas, Tex., Nov. 11-12.

Nebraska Ought Not Be Gaffly In Senate-Morrison

Wayne (UPI) — Governor Morrison said Nebraska ought not to be a gaffly in the U.S. Senate, ought not to sit on the sidelines in opposition as the history of the future is written.

The Democratic candidate for U.S. senator, speaking on Wayne State College's election institute series, described Sen. Carl Curtis, his opponent, as "a gaffly who must be called a failure if after 27 years in Congress he has not been able to curb what he calls extravagant federal spending."

Morrison denied a claim, made by Norbert Tiemann, Republican candidate for governor, on the same platform Oct. 13, that he (Morrison) would be a "rubber stamp for LBJ" if elected to the Senate.

"Anybody who knows me knows that is not true," Morrison declared.

He said that in his three terms as governor, "I have lived with stark economy. No state government gives more service for a dollar of spending than does Nebraska."

Of Nebraska's role in the future, he said the state must have "a voice with the majority in the U.S. Senate if it is to realize its true potential in the future."

In a question period with the largely student audience, Morrison said he favors allowing 18-year-olds to vote. "If they are subject to the draft, they should be allowed to participate in government."

Kurtz Chosen As Head Of Mental Retardation

Mrs. Donald Maack of West Point is vice president; Mrs. Clarence Schlueter of West Point, secretary; and Jack Anderson, Wisner superintendent.

15 Students Get $300 Scholarships

Fifteen University of Nebraska students have been announced as winners of Sears-Roebuck Foundation scholarships.

The students, who each received a $300 scholarship, were selected on the basis of scholarship, leadership, and financial need. They were presented certificates by Richard L. Stewart, regional director of Sears-Roebuck Foundation from Kansas City, Mo.

University freshmen who received the scholarships are: Harold McCaslin, Broken Bow; Albert Boyer, Liberty; Al Pratt, Wilsonville; Joe Langer, Superior; Jack Warren, Jr., Kimball; David Birch, Grand Island; Bernice Ludvik, Wahoo; Ted Blume, Omaha; Gene Wray, Scottia; Vernon W. Meints, Pickrell; Jim Reeder, Shelton; Gerald Poskocil, Princeton; Clifford Quick, Alliance; and Cynthia Harre, Exeter.

One sophomore, Dennis Wilkins of Arlington, also received a scholarship.

dent of schools, treasurer of the group from Cumling, Colfax, Dodge and Butte Counties.

Nov. 14 Meet These executive officers are to present a slate of board of directors members to be voted on at a meeting Nov. 14 at the West Point Public Library. A constitution is also to be presented for adoption.

Assisting at the organizational meeting were Verlin Boldy, Lincoln, executive director of the Nebraska State Association for Mentally Retarded Children, and George A. Thomas Jr., MR planning coordinator of the Nebraska Psychiatric Institute at Omaha.

Supt. Anderson said that under the U.S. Education Act, the Wisner and West Point schools should be able to get about $60,000 jointly for mental retardation programs.

Group To Confer On Legal Aid For Poor

Omaha (UPI) — Representatives from eight states will attend the north central conference on legal services for the poor to be held here Friday and Saturday.

Among those attending will be the president of the American Bar Association, Orison S. Marden, New York.

2 Stories Dramatize Contrast

By ROBERT PETERSON

In two newspapers the other day were two extremes of personal initiative. In one was a photo of a slovenly-dressed older woman standing sadly in a dingy kitchen with paper peeling from the walls and woodwork that hadn't seen paint in years. The feature story was headed, "Old Age No Picnic, Says Widow."

But in the other paper was a picture of a smiling, neatly-dressed woman seated in a tiny apartment which appeared to be immaculate. The story was headed, "She Enjoys Old Age on $98 Monthly."

One couldn't help being intrigued by the contrast, because the stories accompanying the pictures disclosed that both women were in their late 70's, lived alone, enjoyed reasonably good health and had incomes just under $100 a month.

The woman in the first picture apparently made no effort to try on a smile for size, keep herself tidy, or improve her quarters by hanging some fresh wallpaper and painting the woodwork.

The second woman had the gumption to make the most of her circumstances and, thanks to optimism and a sunny disposition, seemed to be reaping her share of satisfaction in later years.

Optimathy deserves a place in our vocabularies. It's in the bigger dictionaries and means, "Education obtained late in life." Men and women everywhere need to be encouraged to pursue optimathy for it can be the decisive factor in determining whether later years are bright or boring.

Contrary to the fallacious maxim about old dogs and new tricks, it is quite possible to learn at any age—provided one expends a little effort. This doesn't necessarily mean going back to school, although thousands of folks past 65 are enrolled in schools and colleges.

It may simply mean taking up some subject such as the Civil War, Napoleon, astronomy, or bird-watching and pursuing it on your own as a means of enriching the spirit and making you a more interesting person.

In a recent column I wrote about a young couple who worked and were faced with the problem of caring for an older mother. The woman had suffered a stroke and was now ready to leave the hospital, provided she had a place to go where someone could watch over her.

Several letters have come in from retired people offering to take this woman into their homes and nurse her back to health. Writes a widow, "I have a large, sunny room, good home-cooked food and plenty of patience with the sick. I'd like to help her recuperate and wouldn't charge half what a nursing home costs."

Maybe we wouldn't need so many hospitals, rest homes and nursing establishments if we had a system of encouraging healthy, helpful elders to take convalescing contemporaries into their homes and care for them at a moderate fee.

Jerry Atrick observes, "Living in the past has one thing in its favor—it's cheaper."

Congress Made Mark

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

In its entirety, the 89th Congress was an active one. Depending upon your own political philosophy, it may or may not have been, as President Johnson described it, "the best Congress in the history of this nation . . . the great Congress." It was a great Congress for the "Great Society" being advanced by the President.

Medicare, civil rights and the war on poverty were the highlights of the 1965 and 1966 sessions of the 89th. In the session just ended, lawmakers faced a feeling of national uncertainty but still responded in good fashion to the problems that confront the nation. While passing strong civil rights legislation in its first session, Congress backed off from this subject in 1966, a position reflecting what most believe to be the dominant mood of the nation. Civil rights violence, rightly or wrongly, has adversely affected the cause of full freedom and equality for all minority groups.

Congress also backed off, again, from any action toward repeal of the right to work law. This, too, probably reflects the dominant mood of the nation. While a large reservoir of support for organized labor exists among many people, there is growing apprehension over the power and influence of labor on the economic scene.

Rather than animosity toward labor, this attitude is simply an expression of anxiety over the possible future course of events. Labor's broad base of support is not eroded but labor will find its interests more and more merged with the general welfare of the nation as a whole, subjecting it to more difficult times in the securing of favorable legislation.

Labor might also face the fact that right to work is as much a matter of principle as anything else. The existence of right to work laws is not a ban against labor unions. Such laws will not adversely affect the cause of labor working honestly in behalf of justice and economic security for its members. A good labor union need not have much fear of right to work laws in view of the realities of our times.

The second session of the 89th Congress really paid nothing but lip service to fears in the area of economic stability. Senators and representatives still approved appropriations well in excess of $100 billion, including a $3.3 billion hike over last year in domestic spending. GOP expressions over "guns or butter" failed to diminish Democratic fondness for the Great Society.

The appropriations approved in 1966 included establishment of a new "demonstration cities" program to conquer slum conditions in selected metropolitan targets. Congress went, too, for expanded programs in the field of aid to education at the elementary and college levels, a higher minimum wage and expanded programs of control of water and air pollution. This was all done on top of a defense appropriation of $58.1 billion and a foreign aid appropriation of nearly $3 billion, the latter almost half a billion less than requested by the President.

In several areas of foreign affairs, Congress took limited action to curb the freedom of the executive branch. The President did not get the free rein he wanted in expanded trade with communist bloc nations or in the disposition of all foreign aid. But he was not handcuffed as some would have liked to do and indications are that our foreign affairs programs will face a growing flexibility in the years ahead.

Congress took some note of inflationary fears by rescinding the tax incentive for plant investments but this is not considered by anyone as a serious attack upon spending. Inflation has not come yet into full enough bloom to warrant great congressional concern and many think it will not.

A host of other programs were adopted by Congress, some of them significant but not widely discussed.

Included here is the new highway safety program involving a $100 million construction grants to the states. Also included here are such things as the rent supplements program, the teacher corps, relaxation of bail bond requirements in non-capital crime cases and improved freedom of information laws. Thus, the will of Congress reflected a nation, it seems, that holds a cautious optimism of the future. To borrow a phrase from President Johnson, the Congress seems to have reached a consensus in its record.

The record of the 89th Congress will be one for its critics to lament and its proponents to praise, in large measure along partisan political lines. But whatever the attitude of people might be, the nation continues to move in an effort to meet the international complications and domestic problems that confront it. Certainly, it cannot be said that we are standing still.

Other Areas Of Action

Election, County Level

While the state and national races receive the most attention, there are county races coming up for settlement Nov. 8 that are also very important. In most of these races, voters would be well advised to return the incumbents to office.

This is true in the two contests for county commissioner, Ralph Harlan, Democrat, and Kenneth Bourne, Republican, have given the public diligent and honest service. They have worked efficiently to improve county programs and toward cooperative public efforts with the city of Lincoln. The two men have earned the confidence of the people and should both be returned to office.

The same thing can be said of County Clerk Carl Hartman. There is nothing dramatic to say about Hartman's administration of county business but the position simply is not a dramatic one. The point is that Hartman has done the job expected of him and for that reason ought to be returned to office.

A fourth race involves Fritz Meyer, running for county assessor. Meyer is not an incumbent but no incumbent is running. Assessor Arthur Davis leaving office. Meyer, however, does offer experience, having spent 15 years in the assessor's office, the past six as deputy county assessor. He offers experience that cannot be matched by his Democratic opponent.

In all the above races, the recommended choices represent a job sufficiently or well done in the past and no challenger who shows promise of particular improvement. It is no help to government and, therefore, the people for voters to indiscriminately change faces in elective public offices. Change should not be forthcoming without some indictment of the past and corresponding promise for the future.

Money Does Not Win Elections

A political research group denies the popular belief that money will win an election.

After making case studies, the group came to the conclusion that sufficient money is necessary to put on a well rounded campaign, but after that point it largely loses its value. It is only one ingredient in a successful campaign.

This conclusion resulted from studies in the primaries in Tennessee and California. In each instance the candidate who spent the most did not win.

Most important, the study revealed, is an intangible trait of the candidate—the personal appeal that permits him to communicate with the largest number of voters. He has something that money can't buy and that he, himself, cannot readily understand.

It was explained that strong newspaper support is a mixed blessing because by taking positions the newspaper divides its field of readers. It is the same with strong business support. This frequently estranges the non-business elements and cancels out the support. Too much money spent on a campaign makes the voter suspicious.

These are rather obvious conclusions and the study of campaigns in two states is really not sufficient for a pronouncement on the human canons of election, but it is encouraging to know that money beyond the needed point is not the be-all and do-all of the American election process.

People still vote for the man they most favor.

Powell And The Law

Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, congressman from the Harlem district of New York City, this week was found guilty of civil contempt of court for the third time, and has been sentenced to 30 days in jail under order to pay a fine of $250 if he doesn't produce a financial statement to a panel of New York judges by Monday.

Serious as that sounds, it is to be remembered that it is the court's third try and Rep. Powell has not served in jail nor paid anything. The law is having more trouble dealing with him than a left-handed man trying to catch a right-handed frog in a lily pond. We may add that all of the present litigation is the result of a larger case which resulted in a $164,000 libel verdict against him.

Rep. Powell is an unusually competent public servant when he wishes to be. He is the minister of the Abyssinian Baptist Church in New York, and a politician with solid support in his district. But at his worst he is more of a scoundrel than a lawmaker and more often disqualifies himself than justifies his position as a member of Congress.

Perhaps he is afflicted with an inability to make good use of the considerable power that goes with congressional service—turning it into personal privilege rather than to the public good. But he should take note. He is writing a bad record, such a one that will eventually reflect in his own district and will end his public career.

He has already undergone censure and many of his powers have been stripped from him as a committee chairman. One of these days he will fail at the polls and that will be the end of his congressional career.

"... Now, Turn Around And Start Walkin' ...!"

DREW PEARSON

Reagan Was Once With Radical Left

WASHINGTON — Before Ronald Reagan, the charming Hollywood actor, was nominated as the Republican candidate for governor of California, certain GOP leaders had prepared an amazing dossier on his past. They feared that Reagan was too politically unstable to lead the state.

Since then the research on Reagan's past record has been hushed up. There has been some backstage discussion among some California Republicans as to whether it should be published, but the decision so far has been negative.

Among the Republicans who have their fingers crossed about Reagan are former Governor Goodwin Knight, Sen. Tom Kuchel, ex-Mayor George Christopher of San Francisco, and Joseph Shell, candidate for governor in 1962 and Republican leader of the California Assembly.

Their skepticism is based partly on his lack of experience, partly on the fact that he once teamed up with extreme leftists, now is backed by extreme rightists. They wonder whether, if elected, he would prove to be a "revolving door" governor, given to sudden policy reversals.

This column has now obtained a copy of the Republican research on Reagan. And since he is running for the government of the nation's most populous state, with plans — according to backers — of going on to the White House, the public certainly has a right to know all his background.

Here, therefore, are the most important excerpts from the Reagan dossier which Republican leaders prepared but have not used.

On Sept. 7, 1946, Reagan was billed by the Peoples World, organ of the communist party on the West Coast, as the star in "Operation Terror," a series of 13 weekly broadcasts "Sponsored by Mobilization For Democracy," produced with the cooperation of the Hollywood writers mobilization.

The mobilization for democracy is listed by the House Un-American activities committee, page 220 of its 1961 report, as follows: "Created by California communists since 1945. It is a communist-inspired and dominated organization carefully window-dressed and directed and engaged in inciting riots, racial hatred, and disrespect for law and order. It is one of the 'key' communist fronts in California."

The above highlights the most significant point in the career of Candidate Reagan, namely the complete reversal of his position. "Operation Terror," the program in which he starred in 1946, was an expose of the persecution of Southern Negroes who voted for the first time. It was a vigorous defense of civil rights.

Today, on contrast, Reagan is proud of the awards he has received from segregationist Governors Ross Barnett of Mississippi, Orval Faubus of Arkansas, and from the right-wing Citizens for Constitutional Government. He has been opposed to open housing and is cashing in, politically, on the white backlash resulting from various civil rights disturbances on the West Coast.

Most Bewildered

Elmwood, Neb.

Having read the newspaper quotations of Dr. Alan Pickering's address concerning the present-day church and its teachings, may I say that if age and church membership are qualifications necessary to belong to the group, and I quote, "of little old ladies, plastic fat bottoms, moral reactionaries and bewildered old people," I must be one of these fine characters who, he says, are held together by "Rev. Mr. I. M. Rat Fink, D. D."

Dr. Pickering says we have fed the students "stone for bread" and "no wonder many call the hocus-pocus liturgy of our communion services a game by the name of swallow the leader." My reaction to his statements, after I had recovered from the nausea caused by them as coming from a man who calls himself a minister of God, was simply that if "stones" are being offered, they are being tossed out indiscriminately by the Dr. Pickering of our time. These individuals take away the beauty and joy of faith and love which, thank God, are as available as ever to all, both young and old. One such individual can take from many of our wonderful youth the faith, respect and loyalty that I have seen fostered and grow in the young people of our community and churches.

He called on the church to speak to students in their own terms. I do not believe that the majority of our youth care to speak or have us speak in Dr. Pickering's terms. I refuse to believe that it is necessary to spew out barnyard language to reach our young people.

Neither the church nor its "bewildered old people" discount the physical. The Bible never at any time ignores the fact that "man is body, mind, spirit and feelings." The church and its leaders are here to help our youth to grow in stature and learn to control and coordinate "body, mind spirit and feelings" and to reach out to their Creator for faith and help in doing so.

Also, our leaders can command respect for themselves and the teachings of Christ and can teach respect for the body, mind and spirit of each youth and his fellow man. It is very sad that the Dr. Pickering and their followers make the headlines, while so many fine, dedicated leaders and young people are not heard from.

Dr. Pickering says our youth are bewildered. Of course many are bewildered. We have all been bewildered many times during our lifetimes and will often be again. Also, I am very sure that Dr. Pickering is the most bewildered of us all. How he must hate himself!

MRS. GUY CLEMENTS

Sales, Income Tax

Lincoln, Neb.

There have been many questions as to why labor changed its position on the income tax issue. Labor has not changed its position, only its method of attack. Labor has never been opposed to the principle of an income tax. We opposed LB797 because of its flat rate, hoping to get the bill changed to a progressive rate.

Since that time, the Farm Bureau has successfully petitioned for the state portion of the property tax to be placed on the ballot. If both income and property tax are voted down, the state will be virtually without any revenue. Both candidates for governor have said if the income tax is voted down, they would recommend a combination sales and income tax.

We are opposed to a sales tax because of its cost and regressiveness.

The administration of a sales tax is much higher than for an income tax. The collection cost is too high. The low income family will pay just as much in sales tax as the family in the highest income bracket. The aged, living on Social Security, etc. cannot afford this. With both a sales tax and an income tax, the administration cost would be double. With the income tax tied to the federal tax, there would be no policing expense or, at the most, it would be very small compared to the cost of policing a sales tax. The argument that the tourist would pay part of a sales tax is not appealing. True, tourism is increasing but we would be paying dollars to collect pennies. It would be next to impossible to get rid of a sales tax once we got it, but we could improve on LB797

Your Five Cents Worth

The Accounting

Lincoln, Neb.

It's difficult to understand exactly what the American voters want. For the last 10 years they have been going to the polls and saying, bring on the big government spending programs, the New Frontier, the Great Society—we can afford it and, by golly, we'll pay for it. Now, when the bills are rolling in the form of higher consumer prices, they seem to be saying, wait a minute — I didn't mean I could afford this. Joe, there, down the street, he can afford it, but not I.

Tut, tut, Mrs. Irate Housewife. Ask not what you can do to your grocer. Ask instead what your government has been doing to you. And remember, you asked for it.

R. G.

Businessman

Lincoln, Neb.

I believe the people are awakening to a shocking fact — that is, politics. I feel it is high time we have more business and working men in more public offices.

A prime example is the sheriff's office. There are those who want to get things rolling with Bob Colin for sheriff. And I say, amen. It takes a lot of courage for a businessman to attempt such a race as this, with the incumbent's cohorts putting emphasis on experience, etc.

Bob Colin knows how to run a business and that is not just what the sheriff's office needs — it's what the whole country needs.

We need more common people in public office.

DON MOELLER

Liquor By Drink

Lincoln, Neb.

Liquor by the drink has been the bane of the race since time immemorial. Liquor imbued in any form or in any amount intoxicates. It both excites and stupefies at the same time. It is a depressant on the nerve centers of the cerebrum. It lowers the vitality and normal function of the mind. It fogs clear thinking, stultifies the conscience, warps good judgment and inhibits will power.

At the same time, liquor excites the nerve centers that function in the coordination of movements. Liquor by the drink is not needed by anyone, and everybody is better off without it. Hence more drastic measures to combat it are urgently needed.

Wheel Tax

Lincoln, Neb.

I would like to compliment Mr. Willard Wells, candidate for county treasurer, for his thought and comment on justified additional service to the taxpayers.

I would like to have Mr. Wells make a statement through the press and news media as to whether he would, if elected, refuse to sell licenses on motor vehicles to individuals after they have paid their valid state, county and city taxes on their vehicles.

Motor vehicles are personal property and are taxed by the city, yet a duplication tax on this said personal property in the form of wheel tax is also assessed against vehicle owners in the cities of Lincoln and Omaha, contrary to federal law prohibiting duplication taxes.

Mr. Berg and his staff, in my opinion, violated the law of the state of Nebraska in refusal to sell me licenses on my vehicles after receiving a check for state, county and city taxes less the invalid wheel tax.

WALLIE W. MATTICE

Pool Or School

Fremont, Neb.

We have a public swimming pool in our neighborhood. We also have a private club in our community with a pool. If I like the way the club teaches swimming better than the way it is taught at the public pool, should I expect my neighbors to pay any part of my children's dues at the private club so they may go there? Should I expect my neighbors to pay their travel fare to the private pool?

Pool or school—how much responsibility does my neighbor have for financing my private choices for my children?

If the club should furnish transportation for its members, but the public pool does not, will the club absorb the transportation problem for the public pool swimmers?

I believe if I want something I feel is a little better or a little different for my children than what is offered for the general public, then I must assume the expense of making that choice as well as all those related to it.

I am thankful I can still decide which pool, school or church my children may attend. I keep wondering how long such choices are going to exist in this country, it is being socialized so rapidly!

New Proposals

Lincoln, Neb.

The woes and worries of Lincoln homeowners appear to be perpetual and never-ending. They have been hit with a 42% valuation hike, as ordered by the State Board of Equalization, which included even the so-called sub-standard housing areas. In addition to this, the levy was raised to over 100 mills, with most of the money going to the Lincoln public schools. Obviously the local homeowners are the major contributors not only to the public schools but also to the city, county and state governmental operations.

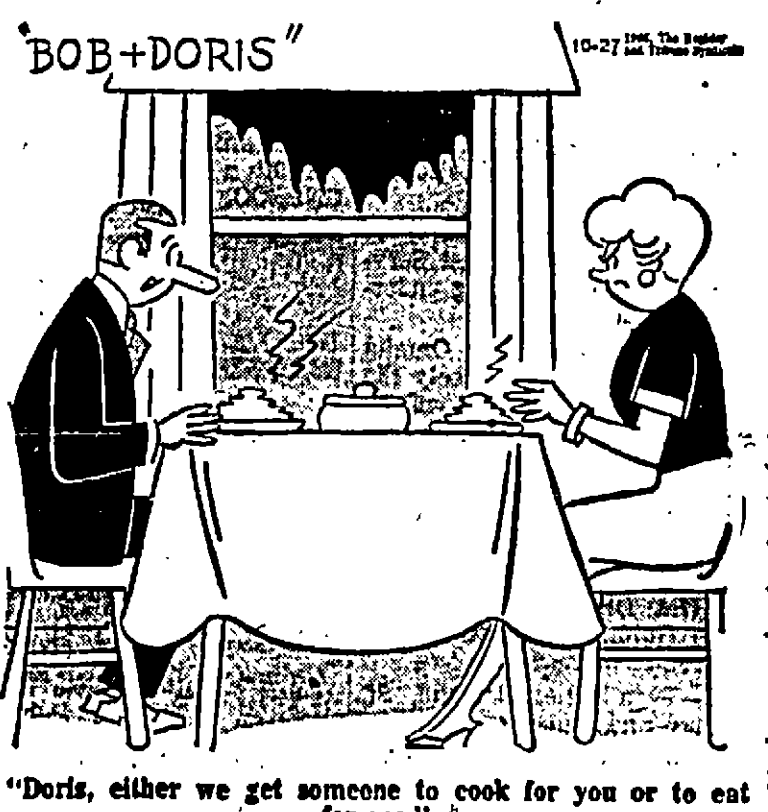

Now comes our City Council and proposes to increase the severity of the minimum housing standards ordinance (in effect since 1956) by removing the "Grandfather Clause" which now protects completed structures from major remodeling costs, and by hiking the fine from $100 to $500 per day for any violation thereof, plus six months in the city hoosegow.

Certainly, such extreme penalties are no incentive or stimulus for doing necessary repairs or improvements and could result in wholesale deterioration.

The obvious intent of these newly concocted proposals is to deny that the educated persons residing in this three - college city have either the integrity or the intelligence to manage their household affairs, unless they submit to these expensive inspections, with emphasis on "expensive."

$73,420,851 For Nuclear Unit Okayed

... Fort Calhoun

Omaha (UPI) — The Omaha Public Power District board of directors Wednesday authorized the expenditure of $73,420,851 for a nuclear generating unit to be built at Fort Calhoun. The facility will be completed by May of 1971.

The board awarded a $30,181,000 contract to Combustion Engineering, Inc., New York, for a nuclear steam supply system and a turbo-generator. The unit will have a net generating capability of 450,000 kilowatts. Transmission line facilities and substation equipment, as well as other plant auxiliary equipment, will be purchased later.

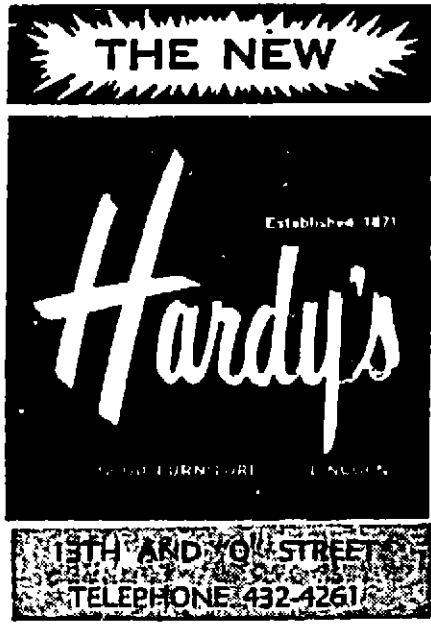

The board also authorized a nuclear fuel purchase agreement with Combustion Engineering for a seven-year supply of three fuel "cores" or loadings which will cost $43,239,851. OPPD has the option to cancel the third core without penalty.

OPPD General Manager E. E. Schwalm said the district's decision to go nuclear was supported by lower fuel costs.

"While the initial cost of the new unit will be higher than a fossil-fueled unit of the same size, fuel savings will more than make up the difference," Schwalm said. "Savings in fuel costs with the nuclear unit will amount to over $1 million each year for the next 20 years."

Confident Of Future
OPPD President Ted W. Metcalf said the board is confident that the use of electricity will continue to increase in the years ahead as it has in the past. "We feel that this huge commitment of $74 million is both necessary and wise if we are to continue to meet our customers' demands for electricity at the lowest possible costs."

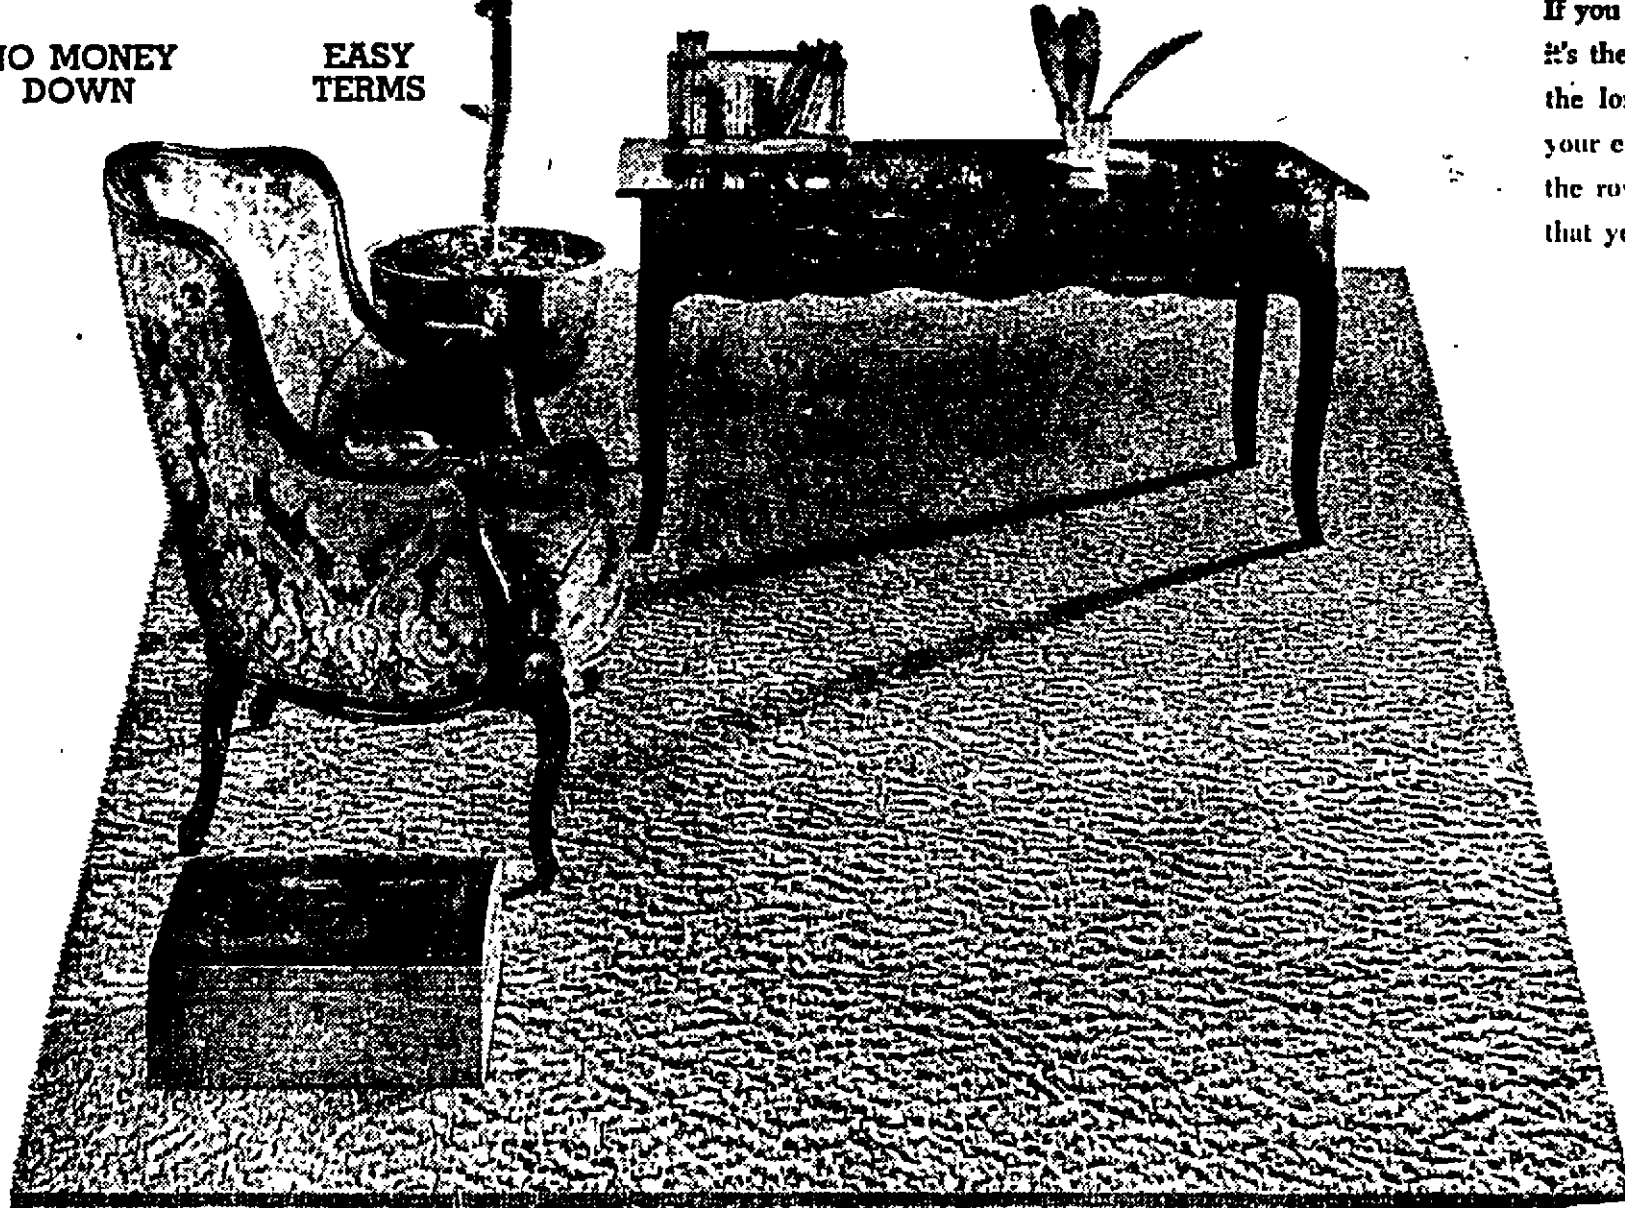

"By going nuclear, the district hopes to be able to save enough in fuel and generation costs to offset other costs of business which are constantly rising," Metcalf said.

'Wage Guides Not Dead'

Carbondale, Ill. (AP) — Gardner Ackley, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, disputed Wednesday night claims that the administration's wage-price guideposts "are dead and should be buried."

"Arithmetic doesn't go away just because we don't like it or can't learn it," Ackley said. "Moreover, I am convinced that the educational effort involved in the guideposts has already had some significant payoff in more restrained wage and price behavior."

The administration, on the advice of the council, has recommended that industry and unions not raise prices or wages more than 3.2%. Some labor unions have sought, and won, pay increases of a higher percentage, a few as high as 5%.

In a speech prepared for the Vandover Memorial Lecture at Southern Illinois University, Ackley said the nation can reach full employment only if "we succeed in developing responsibility and restraint in the wage and price policies of unions and employers in a period of sustained high demand."

U.S.-Soviet Air Linkup To Revive?

Washington (UPI) — The long stalled U.S.-Soviet agreement for a New York to Moscow air linkup is expected to be revived next week—barring last minute diplomatic hitches, sources said Wednesday.

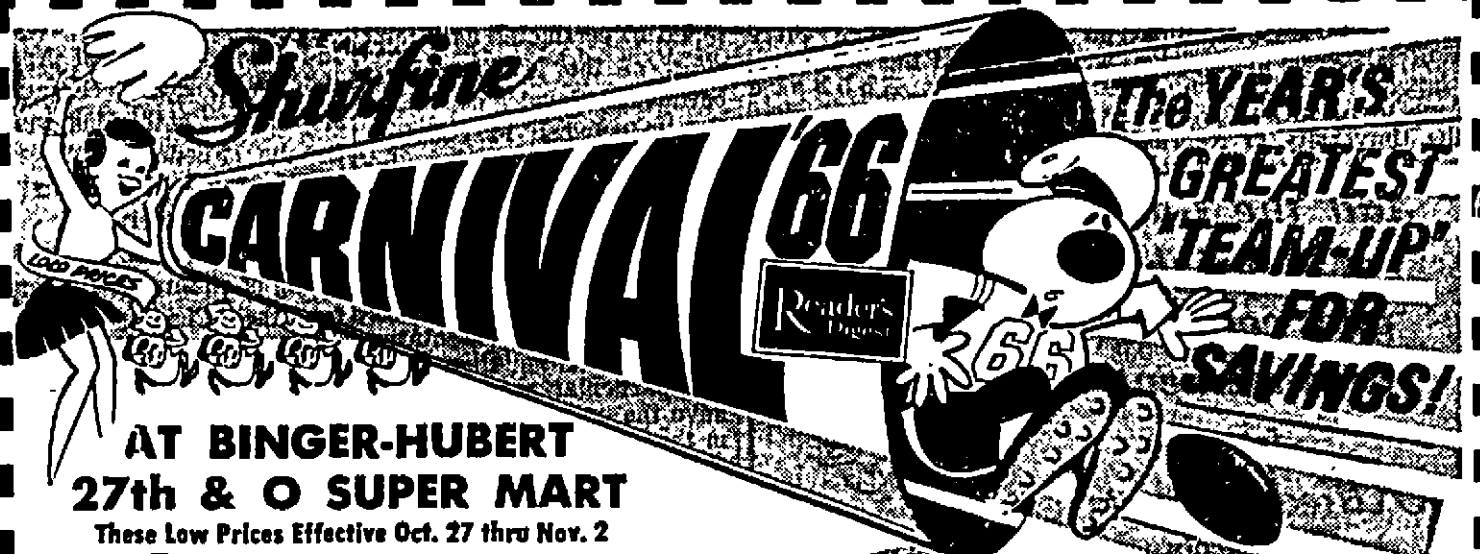

However, the State Department said "no definite date" has been set for signing the pact which has been a continuing casualty of cold war freezes since 1960.

U. S. officials are cautiously optimistic about an agreement, but they point out that is always a possibility of a snag on the few details still to be worked out.

The negotiators hope to have the agreement in its final form for the arrival of Yeogeni F. Loginov, Soviet minister of civil aviation, who is expected in Washington Nov. 2 or 3.

Berkowitz Dies

New York (UPI) — Mortimer Berkowitz, former general manager of the American Weekly and Puck, the Comic Weekly, died in the Frank Pavilion after a long illness. He was 79.

Journalism School Issues Paradoxes Report

A depth report on the paradoxes in Nebraska politics, published by the University of Nebraska School of Journalism, was in circulation Wednesday.

Prepared by Journalism students, the 40-page document is illustrated throughout with political cartoons, prepared by Gunars Straz-dins of Lincoln, an art student.

Neale Copple, director of the School of Journalism, noted that the depth report "deals almost entirely with the paradoxes — the differences, the unexplainable — in Nebraska's political history."

Although not intended to be a political history of the state, "to a degree it becomes one," he noted.

In a lead story, writer Jim Patten notes that Nebraska supposedly is solidly conservative, solidly isolationist and solidly Republican.

Yet Nebraska is the only state with a 100% public power system. For 40 years Nebraska was represented in Washington by George W. Norris, known today as the "fighting liberal." Nebraska is the only state in the nation with a one-house legislature, and was the first to depart from the domed statehouse concept when it built a capitol with a tower.

At the same time "isolationist" Nebraska harbors headquarters of the Strategic Air Command, and Democrats have scored some notable election victories in the Republican state.

Nearly 30 students contributed to the report, in writing and research. The project was aided by a grant from the Newspaper Fund, Inc., of the Wall Street Journal.

A special supplement — a 100-year statistical study of Nebraska's elections — was issued with the depth report with limited circulation to newspapers and to certain scholars and students of government.

Curtis Receives Additional Funds

The Nebraska Republican senatorial campaign committee reported Wednesday it has received an additional $1,641 in contributions to support the re-election bid of U.S. Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb.

The additional contributions bring to $59,654 the total amount received by the committee for Sen. Curtis' campaign.

The committee supporting the campaign of the Democratic nominee for Curtis' seat, Gov. Frank Morrison, reported contributions totaling $41,947.

Freedom Meal To Be Tested In 3 Areas

State Agriculture Director Pearl F. Finigan announced Wednesday that the Nebraska Freedom Meal will be tested in India, Southeast Asia and Latin America.

He said the department "has been notified that the Freedom Meal will be tested through Food for Peace channels in foreign countries by federal government officials."

The high-protein meal, developed by the Midwest Research Institute of Kansas City, Mo., for the Nebraska Agresearch Program, is the first major food use for milo and is a blended product of other cereal grains.

Finigan said he is "very enthusiastic about the action taken by the Food for Peace program" and noted this appears "to be the first step in having the Nebraska meal purchased in large quantities for distribution in overseas feeding programs." Finigan and Gov. Frank Morrison announced the product in June following President Johnson's message calling for such a product.

Swine Research Fund Drive Told

Concord—Organizational details of a $30,000 fund drive to support construction of new swine research facilities at the University of Nebraska Northeast Station here were disclosed this week. Milo Birkley, Hubbard's swine producer and fund drive chairman, said the drive would be conducted as a joint effort of the Northeast Experimental Farm Association, which includes 14 counties, and the various area swine associations.

While county organizations will differ somewhat, most will be headed by a director of the Experimental Farm Association and a representative of the swine association active in a particular area. Counties have the option of organizing in the manner they choose to participate in the fund drive, Birkley pointed out. However the majority likely will organize on a precinct or community basis, he added.

AGATE RANCH WINS HONORS

Omaha (H)—The Newell and Oberg Ranch of Agate, Neb., won grand championship honors at the 22nd Annual Omaha Feeder Calf Show Wednesday with an entry of 20 Hereford steers.

This broke a three-year string of championship honors for the Chedsey Brothers entry from Coalmont, Colo. Runnerup this year was the Angus entry from the Diamond Lazy H Ranch of Rose, Neb.

All 34 entries in the show were awarded blue ribbons. The 700 head of calves will be sold at auction Thursday.

NU Geneticist To Study Viruses, Chromosomes

Omaha—Viruses and chromosomes—two related factors becoming increasingly important in the understanding of disease and disability will be studied by a University of Nebraska College of Medicine geneticist.

Dr. James D. Eisen, associate professor of human genetics and director of the genetics laboratory at the Nebraska Psychiatric Institute, will make the study under a $100,000 from the National Institutes of Health.

Completion Of O'Neill Irrigation Review Urged

O'Neill (H)—The Nebraska River Basin Development Association at its annual meeting Wednesday adopted a resolution urging the Bureau of the Budget to expedite completion of its review of the O'Neill unit irrigation project and send its findings to Congress.

Another resolution asked for accelerated recreation development program in the basin and a third urged a speed-up of land treatment programs with attention to practices that would reduce flood runoff.

Alfred Drayton was re-elected president. Other officers selected were Elmer Juracek, O'Neill, vice president, and William C. Smith, Ainsworth, secretary-treasurer.

Surprising medical facts about tension indigestion

Tests at a famous medical center show how one special formula beats even prescription-type products in fighting excess stomach acid, immediate cause of tension indigestion. This special formula is not an expensive drug, not difficult to get, but found in today's TUMS®. Stomach specialists know TUMS is no mere candy mint. In tests, today's TUMS fought stomach acid faster, more completely than even a prescription-type antacid costing six times as much. It is the medicine for tension indigestion. TUMS.

Rail Ride Not Easy For Girl, 14

Blair (R)—Donna Whelchel, 14, Boone, Iowa, is back home probably convinced that riding freight trains isn't the easiest way to run away from home.

Donna spent several hours riding between two freight cars on the Chicago and North Western Railroad, standing on the coupler joining the two cars.

During her trip of approximately 125 miles, the train reached speeds between 50 and 60 m.p.h. while she held on to a swaying boxcar.

Donna hopped the train at Boone and was not noticed until it stopped at Missouri Valley, Iowa, where a woman saw her between the cars. The woman told a railroad man who contacted the train crew by radio.

When the train again stopped at California Junction, Iowa, crewmen found the girl about 25 cars behind the engine. They let her ride in the engine cab to Blair.

Blair police reported that the girl said she was running away from home and "any place the train went I want to go." However, her parents were called and they drove to Blair for her.

Don't miss it. News of friends on vacation, marriages, engagements, parties, PTA notes and club meetings makes good reading in the family section of "Sunday Journal and Star."

Quorum Lack Voids Amendment Stands

... BY CHAMBER BOARD

The Chamber of Commerce board of directors voted 3-2 to oppose Amendment 14, one of 19 constitutional amendments to be on the ballot Nov. 8, but the stand was voided by a lack of board voters.

The board did not vote on chamber committee recommendation for the remaining 18 proposals due to lack of a quorum.

Amendment 14 had been favored by the education committee.

The amendment provides that not less than 20% of any future sales, income tax or combination of both shall be devoted to common schools controlled by the state or any educational governmental subdivision.

The education committee's advice opposing controversial school bus Amendment 6 was not acted on when the vote was challenged due to lack of quorum.

The taxation committee offered no suggestions on proposals 300 and 301. Instead it fell back on chamber policy set in 1962 supporting a broadened tax base. Proposal 300 asks passage or rejection of the income tax measure passed by the last Legislature. Proposal 301, known as the Farm Bureau amendment, would prevent the state from levying property taxes.

Otherwise the committee recommended opposition to Amendment 5 which would authorize the legislature to fix the value of land actively devoted to agricultural or horticultural use.

It endorsed basing an income tax on the federal law.

It supported Amendment 15 permitting the exemption of life insurance and life insurance annuity contracts and rights to pension or retirement payments from the state intangible tax.

Daylight Savings Time OK'd By Chamber Of Commerce

Lincoln Chamber of Commerce directors joined other Nebraska sources in support of the adoption of Daylight Savings Time.

It acted after hearing supporting evidence from its own committee and statements in opposition by local movie interests.

The chamber committee asserted that Standard time, which went into effect nationally in 1918 will only be observed by three states and a possible fourth by 1967 and asserted that this trend indicates a solid reason for the change.

Nebraska is tied to Standard time by statute and is the only state among its surrounding neighbors still observing it. The committee proposed repeal of the statute.

The theater groups, with Charles Thone as spokesman, opposed the move with its most telling argument that Nebraska is at the west end of the central time zone and already benefits from an hour later sundown. Thone told directors that going to daylight time here would be equivalent to twice the change in time at the eastern end of the time zone.

NU Anthropology Head Will Tour Sites In Mexico

Dr. David H. Kelley, acting chairman of the department of anthropology at the University of Nebraska, will tour archaeological sites in Mexico at the invitation of the Mexican government next month.

He also will present two technical papers at the Primer Seminario Internacional Para El Estudio de la Escritura—the first international congress for the decipherment of Mayan writings—Dec. 4-11 in Yucatan.

The papers are "Fireglyphs in Mayan Writing," and "Kakupacal."

Disadvantaged Training Discussed

By DR. LESLIE J. NASON

It is too soon to tell which is the best way to provide compensatory training for disadvantaged pre-school children.

Some school authorities have assumed that the program must follow the pattern of the elementary grades, with children congregating in large groups. They are exerting pressure for the construction of permanent brick school buildings to accommodate groups enrolled in the Head Start program.

It is my feeling, since these children are not prepared to compete in kindergarten with those who have a richer home environment, that the insit-ence of beginning a compensatory program with large groups is wrong on the face of it.

What these children need is more individual attention in a situation in which there is no competition.

Adequate Trial
Before solidifying the program completely with permanent building arrangements, many other procedures should be considered and given adequate trial.

Rooms in which Sunday school classes meet—and which are not ordinarily used during the week—might be available to accommodate small groups. A reading room of a branch library might also be available before noon without penalty to the patrons of the library.

Rooms in private homes possibly would be made available for the use of five or six children in a group. A one-to-one or one-to-two sponsoring of disadvantaged youngsters on a voluntary basis has enough face value to deserve a trial.

It may be that we gave up the plan used in Colonial days and failed to make an adequate substitution. I refer to the Dames school in which a mother in the home ran a preparatory school for her own and a few other children.

These mothers prepared children for entrance into the Latin grammar schools, a far more technical process than the preparation for kindergarten now being considered.

No One Program

No one program would be suitable for every community. In some, perhaps a variety of programs should be set up and tried out to meet the needs of children coming from differing home backgrounds.

The first consideration in each community, however, should be to give every child the boost he needs to succeed in school and eventually in life. This will require community planning and community effort.

The single-track program set up by educationalists is the thing that produced the problem in the first place. Every effort should be made to delay the forcing of the Head Start program into the same unsatisfactory straight jacket procedures by the building of fixed accommodations for the program.

Tiemann Favors Education Aid

attitudes into state government."

"The State of Nebraska must make an investment in itself in terms of creating educational excellence . . . upgrading all of our educational institutions . . . creating a research capacity" which will attract industry and provide more employment opportunities.

"I shall support a broad-based, low-rate combination sales-income tax with a portion of the revenue coming back to the schools, and repeal of the personal property tax law."

—develop Nebraska into the finest food-producing and processing state in the nation.

Mental Health

—upgrade mental health institutions ("we pay ward aides at Beatrice $210 a month, and that's deplorable") and create within the Department of Public Institutions a major subdivision for mental health headed by a psychologist who is also an administrator.

Tiemann also plugs for a constitutional convention to modernize the state constitution, and pledges his resistance to any efforts to change the state's "right-to-work" law.

After a brief campaign call on supporters at Pacific and Park to make final arrangements for a 5:30 a.m. visit the next morning to the packing plants in South Omaha, Tiemann drove his own car to Westside High School.

In the Westside gym (where banners pleaded for a football victory over Bellevue), Tiemann met Sorensen again before a joint meeting of the Westside Education Assn., and teachers from Ralston, Millard and Papillion.

Educational Aid

Here, he stressed his support for state aid to education, even though he opposes the proposed constitutional amendment which would mandate such a program once the state tax base was broadened.

(Tiemann opposes the amendment because it would leave the state in the property tax field to finance capital construction projects and because it specifically provides that at least 20% of the revenue from a broadened tax base be channelled into state aid to education.)

State aid can be obtained without the constitutional change, Tiemann declared.

"We can get it," he said. "I would oppose a broadening of the tax base without it."

At Westside, Tiemann also raised another major proposal which he has championed: a vote of the people on a proposed constitutional amendment to permit financing of future highway construction through revenue bonds.

Save Millions

"We could save millions simply by building roads soon because the cost of highway construction is going to continue to go up and up and up," he declared.

Over dinner (steak very rare) at Angelo's on South 72nd, Tiemann discussed the old times with a former schoolmate at Little Campbell, southwest of Hastings, where both men had been raised.

His third confrontation with Sorensen came at Laura Dodge Elementary School where the two candidates addressed the PTA.

In the questioning period that followed Tiemann picked up a favorite theme, criticizing the leadership of Governor Morrison and tying Sorensen to that record.

Sorensen suggests that he will build on the Morrison record, Tiemann notes. "But how," he asks, "can you build on a vacuum?"

How did Tiemann come so far so fast?

"Thousands of volunteers, brand new people, mostly young ones . . . organization . . . advertising . . . hard work," he replies.

Appeal To Youth

Tiemann has made a particular appeal to youth and to political newcomers. His organization has presented new faces—and his campaign is keyed to newness.

In a contest where the issues have been blunted by more agreement than disagreement between the candidates, the voter may be tempted to choose strictly between parties, a factor which Tiemann believes would work to his advantage in traditionally Republican Nebraska.

And, in his effort to gain the first Republican gubernatorial victory in 10 years, Tiemann has not automatically given up on any voter. His campaign as probed deep into Democratic strongholds, like Butler and Saline Counties and South Omaha.

His general election campaign will cost about what the primary campaign did, Tiemann says, maybe "a little less."

Now that the name is known, and the face is as familiar as the next billboard, Nobby Tiemann is no longer plagued with political anonymity, no longer the underdog candidate.

"Now," he told Second Ward Republicans in Omaha, "we need your help."

Pope Promotes Popular Bishop Fulton J. Sheen

By C. J. SCHOENER
New York (AP)—Pope Paul VI named The Most Rev. Fulton J. Sheen bishop of Rochester, N.Y., Wednesday, promoting a man with secular popularity such as few Roman Catholic priests ever attain.

Bishop Sheen told a news conference he will resign as national director of the Society for the Propagation of the Faith, but will continue the television programs and two syndicated newspaper columns that have made him a national figure.

At Rochester, he succeeds Bishop James E. Kearney, who asked to retire because of his age. Bishop Kearney will be 82 on Friday. Bishop Sheen is 71.

The Pope also announced the appointment of The Most Rev. Gerald Francis O'Keefe, auxiliary bishop of St. Paul, Minn., as bishop of theavenport (Iowa) diocese. Bishop O'Keefe succeeds Bishop Ralph Leo Hayes, 80, who also is retiring because of his age.

Bishop Sheen, a man of commanding personality, has had unique opportunities to propagate his faith.

He once threatened the television ratings of none other than Milton (Uncle Miltie) Berle, who referred to the bishop at times, without bitterness, as "Uncle Fultie."

A television critic called Bishop Sheen "the finest Catholic orator since Peter the Hermit," quite an accolade for a man whose college debating coach judged him to be "the worst speaker I ever heard."

He has given instruction to some of the nation's most famous converts—writer-diplomat Clare Boothe Luce, Henry Ford II, columnist Heywood Brown and former Communist spy Elizabeth Bentley.

Training Nurses

Kingston (AP)—Jamaica hopes to relieve a shortage of nurses by sending 210 women to Britain for training. The health minister, Dr. Herbert Eldemire, said the program would continue through 1969.

Curtis Claims Foe Saying Very Little

Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., said Wednesday Gov. Frank B. Morrison's campaign terms are tending to the ear but on analysis say very little. He referred to the governor's "creative localism" and his promise of "dynamic leadership."

"His term 'creative localism' belongs in the vocabulary of the Washington bureaucrats. He would create the impression that there are no local programs financed in part by federal funds in Nebraska," Curtis said in a statement.

"This is another example of his distorting the record. Through the community facilities services, airport aid program, Department of Health, Education and Welfare, and other federal activities, Nebraska cities have received substantial aid during the years I have been in Congress."

Curtis, a 27-year veteran of Capitol Hill, said he has voted for these federal aid programs within the bounds of common sense. He said he has tried to avoid excesses.

Sorensen For ETV Expansion

Lt. Gov. Philip C. Sorensen called Thursday for expansion to make "the fullest possible use" of the state's educational television system, which he called "one of our proudest accomplishments of the past few years."

"Without statewide network nearing completion, putting us in the forefront among the states, we now need to think of maximum use," the lieutenant governor said.

"We are not far from the time now when we will even be using the midnight 8 a.m. hours on the network to transmit college programs for later use on campuses across the state," Sorensen said.

"We can think in terms of sharing the finest of the professors at our state universities with the far-flung colleges. And other big developments are possible if we continue to use the creative imagination that has marked ETV development here in the past," Sorensen said.

Sorensen called attention to the "low cost per person reached" by the system, and called the ETV development "one that can enrich the life of every Nebraskan, whether child or adult and whether urban or rural citizen."

"Nearly 70% of Nebraska's population can now tune in on general cultural programs from our university, classroom programs for all grades from kindergarten through college, and in-service training programs to bring the latest in technical knowledge and skills to professional people across the state," the lieutenant governor noted.

Convicted Killer Parker Files For Writ

Darrel F. Parker, serving a life sentence for the 1955 slaying of his wife, filed a petition for writ of habeas corpus Wednesday in U.S. Federal District Court.

Parker, who was convicted of first degree murder on May 3, 1956, by a Lancaster District Court jury, contends his constitutional rights were violated during his arrest, detention and trial, and that he has exhausted all state remedies.

The petition alleges he was deprived of due process and fair trial, he was arrested without a warrant, he was held and illegally detained against his will and without counsel for a period of 24 hours.

He contends there was dispute of facts throughout the hearings in his case, that he was mentally incompetent and not informed nor aware of his constitutional rights prior to signing a confession.

The petition also contends that a remark made by the prosecuting attorney in closing statements prejudiced the jury and that the "sensationalistic news reports" were also prejudicial.

U.S. Seeks Unanimity On Africa

United Nations, N.Y. (AP)—The United States sought Wednesday to bring near unanimity in the U.N. General Assembly on one of its most vexing problems—the future of South-West Africa.

At the suggestion of U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg, the assembly deferred action until Thursday on an Asian-African resolution and various amendments aimed at ending South Africa's mandate over South-West Africa and putting the territory on the road to independence.

Hilgard Muller, foreign minister of South Africa, again told the 121-nation assembly that in his government's view any action to end the mandate had no basis on legality. He said the assembly was accepting contentions which were "mostly uninformed and reckless."

There was no doubt that the assembly would approve a resolution declaring that South Africa had forfeited its right to mandatory rule over South-West Africa.

The delay was caused by the concern of the United States and other Western powers that the resolution would go beyond anything the United Nations could be expected to accomplish.

The original resolution sponsored by 54 Asian-African nations would have the assembly take over the 1920 League of Nations mandate held by South Africa.

Latin American nations proposed amendments that would declare the mandate terminated and the territory a U.N. responsibility.

Goldberg sought to soften this language with a pledge that the United Nations would guarantee the international status of the territory until it could govern itself.

Anti-Nuclear Arms Treaty Seems Likely

United Nations (UPI)—The United States and the Soviet Union were reported Wednesday to be "close enough in object and scope" that the world can reasonably expect a treaty banning the spread of nuclear weapons.

Canadian disarmament expert Lt. Gen. E. L. M. Burns told the main political committee, "There is considerable common ground between the U.S. and the U.S.S.R. draft treaties now on the table."

However, Burns said the Canadian government would strive for a formula limiting the nuclear club to the present five members—the United States, Britain, the Soviet Union, France and Communist China—and insuring that control of nuclear weapons not be allowed to pass to other countries.

While hailing the "new spirit" in disarmament negotiations—a spirit engendered by optimistic appraisals by the United States and the Soviet Union—Burns said Canada regards a non-proliferation treaty as only the first step toward general and complete disarmament.

He noted that Canada had joined in sponsoring a new day calling on the major powers to sit tight in the nuclear arm race.

Post Office Moves To Handle Early 'Christmas Avalanche'

Washington (AP)—The Post Office Department is going to use an extra $30 million on an emergency basis to handle what it calls an unprecedented deluge of early Christmas mail.

The money is coming from funds the department normally would not spend until the final quarter of this fiscal year—next April, May and June.

Use of the money at this time will mean that the Post Office will have to ask Congress next spring for more funds to cover payroll costs.

In a statement Wednesday, Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien said, "We are not normally geared up for the Christmas avalanche until December. But because the mail steam is being flooded with early Christmas mailings that seriously tax our present capacity to handle it, we are compelled to take this emergency action."

It was the second move within the past two weeks the department has made to clear up backlogs of mail—mostly advertising circulars and Christmas mail orders—which have clogged many post offices.

The first move was O'Brien's announcement that the department plans to begin hiring on Nov. 1 about 150,000 temporary Christmas employees.

British Churches Look At Sex, Reaffirm Chastity

London (AP) — The British Council of Churches gave cautious approval Wednesday for a new look at sex problems, but insisted that the old Christian rules of chastity must still apply.

After six hours of debate on its working party's controversial sex and morality report, the council agreed to accept the document for study.

The council—which represents Anglicans, Greek Orthodox and 25 Protestant denominations—voted 62 to 10 with two abstentions for a compromise motion after rejecting a move by Scottish Presbyterians to throw out the whole report.

This solution was only achieved after often heated argument.

Drawn By Methodist
The report, drawn by a working party led by the Rev.

Kenneth Greet, a Methodist, has already been published by the Student Christian Movement press and has sold 68,000 copies.

It does not condone extra-marital relations, as some reports first suggested, but it does suggest that the time has come for Christians to take a new and more compassionate approach to sexual problems.

While most of the Anglicans and Methodists seem to back the report, Presbyterians and fundamentalist churches are generally against it. But there are individual holdouts in both camps.

The motion finally approved was drafted by the Rev. Ernest A. Payne, general secretary of the Baptist Union, with support from the archbishop of York, the Most Rev. Donald Coggan.

After stating the council's conviction that Christians

"must always show compassion to those who fall from the highest standards," it affirmed as Christian "the rule that sexual intercourse should be confined within the married state," adding that God's grace and strength would help all seeking to reach that standard.

"In the light of this," the motion said, "and while regretting that the working party did not proceed to state unambiguously this conclusion, the council receives the report 'Sex and Morality' which has much to contribute of value to the contemporary discussion of moral questions by both Christians and non-Christians."

USDA, Producers Of Sheep Agree

Washington (UPI)—The Agriculture Department and the American Sheep Producers Council have signed an agreement calling for higher deductions from wool incentive payments.

The deductions to be made from payments beginning next April will continue to finance the council's lamb and wool promotion program through 1969.

The new deductions will be 1 1/2 cents per pound of shorn wool and 7 1/2 cents per hundred pounds of unshorn lambs. The new deductions will replace rates of 1 cent on wool and 5 cents on lambs.

Elderly Woman Slays Intruder

... NO CHARGES FILED

By JIM STEVENSON
Star Staff Writer

An apparent intruder in a north Lincoln home was killed by a shotgun blast early Wednesday morning, only seconds after the woman living in the house had phoned the county sheriff's office to report "someone breaking in."

Mary A. Partington, 77, of 4400 Superior, who lives alone, told law officials that she had been awakened by noises at about 3 a.m. and had phoned the sheriff's office before shooting at a man breaking in her kitchen window.

Slain was Earl E. Hill of 2927 P., a former mental patient in Iowa and a two-year resident of Lincoln engaged in construction work. An autopsy later confirmed his death as the result of shotgun-inflicted head wounds.

No Charges

County Attorney Paul Douglas said that no charges would be filed against Miss Partington, since it had been established that Hill had intended to force his way into the house.

After Miss Partington notified the sheriff's office, who did not have a car within easy access to the area, the Lincoln police were alerted. Miss Partington told the arriving police officers that she had shot at a man near the rear of her house.

She told police that she was uncertain whether or not the man had been hit by the blast.

Found Body

The officers found Hill's body, dressed in a white T-shirt, grey work slacks, and tan shoes, lying face-up under the broken kitchen window. He apparently died immediately.

After the arrival of county deputies, investigation of the incident was turned over to the sheriff's office.

Sheriff Merle Karnopp said that Miss Partington had shot at Hill after he broke through her kitchen window. This apparently occurred right after she had phoned the sheriff's office, he said.

Car In Drive

Karnopp said that after the shooting Miss Partington remembered seeing a car pull into her driveway and then back out and drive away early Tuesday evening. She said that it was too dark to identify the car.

Karnopp said that Hill had been released from the Mental Health Institute in Clarinda, Iowa, in July, 1963. He said that Hill was originally from the Des Moines area.

Hill's roommate, Larry Poore, said that Hill had been suffering from hallucinations in the past several weeks. He said that Hill had seen a disturbance and prowlers recently in the north Lincoln area.

The sheriff's office confirmed numerous reports of him.

Nebraskans Are 'Interested In Progress'

Kearney—Democratic State Chairman John Mitchell said Nebraskans are "interested in progress and not in who gets the credit for the accomplishment."

Mitchell noted that Republican Sen. Roman Hruska suggested earlier this week that Rep. Clair Callan is overrated.

"Citizens of the First District know that Congressman Callan has done an outstanding job of representing them, and his success has caused other Nebraska legislators to work harder for Nebraska," Mitchell said.

"Even as a Democrat, I congratulate Senator Hruska for his votes for the mental health bill of 1963 and for the nuclear test ban treaty, which Senator Curtis voted against."

Girl, 10, Injured In Car-Bicycle Accident Here

A Lincoln girl, 10, was injured in a car-bicycle accident at Woods Blvd. and 27th Tuesday afternoon, was reported in fair condition at Lincoln General Hospital Wednesday.

Molly Sue Collins of 2701 Mansie was thrown over 20 feet in the accident and suffered a broken leg, concussion, and lacerations. The accident occurred when the eastbound bicycle was struck by a southbound car driven by Francis B. Pavel, 30, of Waverly.

Nebraska Equal Opportunity Unit, Federal Officials Meet

The Nebraska Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (NEEOC) Wednesday met with Kansas City regional officials from the Federal commissions.

Charles E. Clark, regional director, and his deputy, David Ethridge, anticipated cooperative efforts between the two governmental levels because Nebraska's equal opportunity laws closely parallel the federal.

Chairman R. D. Andersen of Lincoln and Emmett J. Dennis-Jr., the commission's executive director, will be in Washington, D. C. on Thursday and Friday for extended conferences with various division heads of the federal commission.

Dennis anticipated he would be able to recommend some administrative plans to the commission at its next meeting for further implementation of the state's equal employment law.

Andersen reported one complaint, involving alleged employment discrimination because of sex, has been mutually resolved. He said five other complaints are still under review by the commission.

Callan Will Seek Meat Import Quota Revision For Next House Session

Beemer — Congressman Clair Callan said here Wednesday he will seek revision of meat import quotas in the next session of Congress.

"We need to apply a formula to meat import quotas that gives adequate consideration to the available supply in the U.S. as well as the growth factor of domestic consumption," Callan said.

"Passage of the meat import quotas has offered some assistance to U.S. livestock producers," he said, "but inclusion of the growth factor without consideration of the U.S. supply was a mistake and it must be corrected."

The growth factor of present meat import quotas provides that imports can be increased as U.S. consumption of meat increases.

Callan said he also plans to continue his push for greater restriction of meat packer feeding of livestock.

"Undeniable evidence is available that proves this practice can depress the weekly market price 25 to 50 cents per 100 pounds at certain river markets," he said.

By Associated Press
A federal official said Wednesday it is apparent the City of Hastings and the State Game Commission "cannot resolve their conflict" over use of portions of the old Hastings Naval Ammunition Depot.

J. Wayne Harrop of Kansas City, Mo., chief of the real property division of the regional office of the General Services Administration (GSA), said a decision on use of the property will have to be made despite the local differences.

He notified the commission that GSA officials in Washington will probably make the decision shortly after the first of the year.

The commission and City of Hastings both applied for the same 4,000 acres along the depot's western boundary, and the two have thus far failed to reach an agreement.

City Uncooperative
Deputy Game Commission Director Willard Barbee said the city has been uncooperative. He noted the commission pared its land request down to 1,330 acres to permit the city to develop a portion of the deactivated depot for commercial purposes.

"The city wants it all," Barbee said. "They won't compromise."

Harrop said city officials told him they attempted to negotiate with the commission, but the commission refused.

"We were hopeful that the two could resolve their differences, but it looks like we'll have to move ahead now with disposal of the land," Harrop said.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture long ago claimed the major portion of the base for development of a meat research center.

Igloos On Property
More than 900 underground

and ground level concrete igloos formerly used to store ammunition are located on the disputed acreage.

Barbee said the commission wants the land for public hunting and fishing and wildlife propagation, and he said the igloos could be used as shelters in a nuclear disaster.

He said the revised commission proposal would permit the city to lease acreage in the northeast corner of the depot, which contains ground level igloos, for poultry and livestock feeding operations.

Harrop said the U.S. Bureau of Outdoor Recreation will be asked to review the game commission's proposal.

He said neither the commission nor the city has priority for the land and the federal government's primary concern is "the benefit to the public."

Nebraska Wesleyan University Has Busy Homecoming Schedule

Homecoming activities open Thursday at Nebraska Wesleyan University.

Highlights include a downtown Lincoln parade, homecoming awards convocation and crowning of the W-Club Sweetheart during the NWU-William Jewell football game.

Three senior coeds are candidates for the W-Club Sweetheart title. The winner will be selected by a vote of men in the varsity athletic program at NWU.

Candidates are Janis Brown, Omaha, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Brown; Jane Paul, St. Paul, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Paul; and Kay Shuman, Lincoln, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Shuman.

A coffee by the NWU student education association

Thursday at 3:30 p.m. will welcome alumni and friends in Lincoln for the state teachers convention.

Homecoming spirit will be generated Thursday evening with a torchlight parade through campus and bonfire and pep rally, climaxing with an 8:00 p.m. parade through downtown Lincoln.

The parade route is from 9th to 15th on "O" street.

Sen. John E. Knight, a 1947 NWU alumnus, will address the alumni awards convocation at 10:00 a.m. Friday. Six alumni will be honored.

The Board of Trustees and Alumni Association hold separate meetings at 11:00 a.m. and a joint session at 1:30 p.m. to discuss long-range plans for NWU.

Individual organizations and houses will not have homecoming displays this year. The Interfraternity Council will build one giant display in front of the football field.

A homecoming dance Saturday night climaxes the event.

Coffees Set For Mrs. Sorensen

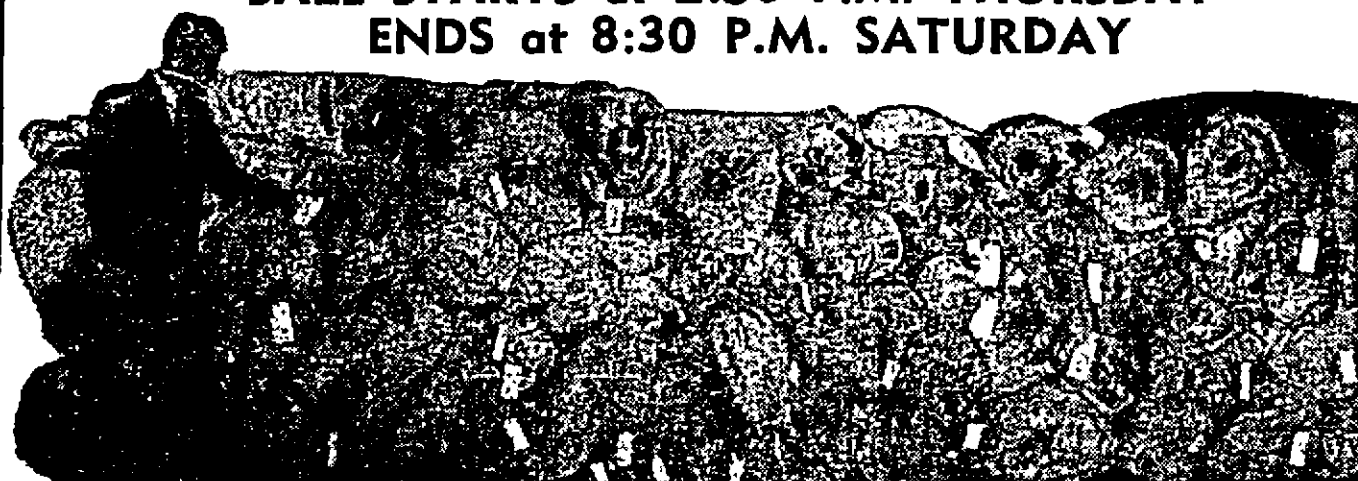

Mrs. Phillip C. Sorensen, wife of Nebraska's lieutenant governor, will be the guest of honor at a series of coffee hours in Omaha beginning this week.

Mrs. Sorensen also has appearances scheduled in Fairbury, Beemer, Wahoo and Aurora.

says "welcome" to dinner guests

In Hawaii pineapple is the symbol of hospitality. This "Yam-Stuffed Pork Roast" has a generous amount of crushed pineapple mixed in a delectable candied yam stuffing—and is appropriately the piece de resistance for a holiday company dinner.

The mainland touch is a final "glazing" with one of the most popular foods in this country—convenient, canned tomato sauce. Cooks have found so many uses for tomato sauce now—as sauce, instant sealer, colorful garnish—that it has become a staple item in many cupboards.

With "Yam-Stuffed Pork Roast" serve buttered Brussels sprouts, a relish platter, and a big peach tart. Hot tea or coffee for the beverage.

YAM-STUFFED PORK ROAST

4 lb. boned, rolled pork shoulder roast
2 (1-lb. 9-oz.) cans yams, drained
1 (15-oz.) can crushed pineapple, drained
½ cup brown sugar
¼ cup melted butter
1 (8-oz.) can tomato sauce

Place roast on rack in roasting pan. Cut 3 or 4 slits crosswise ¼ the way through roast. Roast at 325 degrees F. for 40 to 45 minutes PER POUND. Half an hour before roast is done, remove from oven and fill slits with candied yam stuffing. With electric mixer whip together yams, pineapple, brown sugar, butter and ¼ can tomato sauce. When roast is stuffed, pour remaining ¾ can of tomato sauce over top. Continue baking remaining ½ hour or until done. Makes 6 servings.

Applause Winner

Cottage pudding has been a tried and true dessert for lo, these many years. With its homespun name the pudding bespeaks simplicity, and the recipes variations usually are easy—such as the one below.

BLUEBERRY COTTAGE PUDDING

¼ cup shortening
1 cup sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon lemon extract
¾ cups sifted all-purpose flour
2½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¾ cup milk
1 No. 2 can (2 cups) blueberry pie filling ¼ cup honey
¼ cup butter
3 tablespoons lemon juice
Cream shortening and sugar; add egg and lemon extract. Beat well. Sift flour, baking powder and salt; add alternately with milk, beating after each addition. Bake in a greased and floured 8x8x2-inch pan in 350 degree oven for 35 minutes or until done. Combine pie filling, honey, butter and lemon juice; heat. Spoon blueberry sauce over squares of warm pudding. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

GARLIC BREAD

Melt ½ cup butter or margarine in a saucepan. Add 1 teaspoon instant garlic powder and 2 teaspoons parsley flakes and set aside. Cut a long loaf of French bread diagonally into thick slices, almost to the bottom. Pour butter mixture generously between slices and over top of bread. Wrap in aluminum foil. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 15 minutes or until hot. Yield: 6 servings.

PAIN PERDU (LOST BREAD)

Combine 2 well beaten eggs, 1 tablespoon sugar, ½ teaspoon ground nutmeg and 1 cup milk. Dip 8 slices of bread, one at a time, into the mixture. Saute in butter or margarine, until browned, turning to brown both sides. Sprinkle with sugar or serve with preserves, jelly or syrup. Yield: 8 slices.

PARTY CHEESE FINGERS

Mix ground white pepper, instant garlic powder and onion salt to taste with a 3-ounce package of cream cheese. Spread over slices of bread. Cut into finger strips and top each with a strip of dill pickle or thinly sliced cucumber. Yield: 12 fingers, 3½x1 inch.

Hanoi Labels Manila Summit LBJ's 'War Conference'

Tokyo (AP)—In its first reaction to the Manila conference, North Viet Nam said Thursday that President Johnson used the meeting to lay bare his intention "to embark on a greater adventure by stepping up the war of aggression."

The United States and "its lackeys repeatedly harped on the shopworn tune of peace . . . but in their vocabulary peace means continuation of the war of aggression," said a commentary in the official army newspaper, People's Army.

"From the very beginning, the conference has revealed itself as a war conference of Johnson and its lackeys," the article said.

The statements of (Gen. William C.) Westmoreland and (South Vietnamese Premier) Nguyen Cao Ky about the heartening situation in South Viet Nam and the Viet Cong being intercepted on all fronts are merely an optimistic picture concocted to deceive others," it said.

China's Interpretation Communist China, in its first comment on the summit meeting, said the allied offer to withdraw troops six months after Hanoi disengages its forces from the war was a demand for "the Vietnamese people to surrender to U.S. aggressors."

A Radio Peking Chinese-language broadcast said the declaration on peace and progress in Asia and the Pacific means, in effect, putting the Asian and Pacific Ocean region, including China, "under the control of U.S. imperialism 100%."

The broadcast described the Manila meeting as a "war conference."

Soviets On Surrender

In Moscow, the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia said Wednesday that the conference "was planned as the beginning of a new stage of American aggression, not only in Viet Nam but in all of Asia." It said the peace terms of the Manila declaration mean North Viet Nam would have to capitulate.

Communist Poland and North Korea also lashed out at the declaration signed by the United States and its allies in Viet Nam.

But in Sydney, Australian

Prime Minister Harold Holt said on his return from Manila that there could be a

Aussie Predicts Strategy Change

Sydney (UPI)—Australian Prime Minister Harold Holt Wednesday predicted a major strategy change in allied military operations in South Viet Nam. He said new emphasis would be places on missions to clear areas of communist control and then hold them.

Returning from the Manila summit conference, Holt said the previous strategy of "search and destroy" would be replaced with the new holding operations.

NATO OKs Moving Political Headquarters To Brussels

Paris (AP)—The Atlantic alliance decided Wednesday to get its political headquarters out of France and move it to Belgium.

The decision, taken by the North Atlantic (NATO) Council, was unanimous. Even the French delegate voted for the transfer to Brussels.

At the same time, France's NATO allies agreed to a compromise plan for discussions on the alliance role of the 70,000 French troops stationed in Germany.

Both decisions spring from President Charles de Gaulle's withdrawal of French forces from NATO command and his order that allied forces must be out of France by next April 1.

A brief resolution distributed after the council meeting said, "Considering that the proper functioning of the alliance requires the council to be located near (SHAPE) headquarters (we) decide to move the headquarters of the North Atlantic Council to Brussels."

Brussels is 30 miles from Casteau, Belgium, where Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers Europe (SHAPE), NATO's military command in Europe, will move early next year.

Manlio Brosio, NATO secretary general, said all the allies "expressed regret at having to move, but everyone also recognized the necessity and inevitability of it because of the transfer of SHAPE."

Ky's Line Still Hard

Saigon (UPI)—Prime Minister Nguyen Cao Ky, fresh from the Manila conference, appeared Wednesday night to be as determined as ever not to negotiate with the Viet Cong.

He vowed instead to "fight to the end."

In a news conference at Saigon's Tan Son Nhut Airport after his arrival, Ky indicated his government's position was fixed and that any changes will have to come from the communists.

"I'm sure with our determination, if we stand firm, the communists will change their mind. That's the only way they'll change their minds, if we stand firm."

He answered "yes" when asked whether the conference improved the chances for peace.

Malaysia Nabs 70 Would-Be Protest Chiefs

Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia (AP)—Police reported Thursday nationwide raids had rounded up opposition party members who planned to mastermind protest demonstrations during President Johnson's visit Sunday and Monday.

They said about 70 were detained and among them were members accused of "illegal activities with the communists."

Those held are members of Malaysia's Labor Party and the Ra'ayat Party, a leftist group that has only two seats in parliament.

PROCEEDS from 'candle festival' go to LARC

We like the name 'Candle Festival.' The beauty of candles at holiday time, or any other time for that matter, has its own special significance.

Candles speak of many things in many places. Tomorrow and Saturday, at Westminster Presbyterian Church they will speak of the deep interest Chi Omega sorority has in its fellowman. Beginning at 10 o'clock on Friday morning Chi Omega will have a Candle Festival which will include a variety of fashionable centerpiece designs, and a fantastic display of hand decorated candles. The festival will continue until 9 o'clock on Friday evening, but will close a 6 o'clock Saturday evening. The hand decoration on the candles which range from 12 to 20 inches in height, are done in rich shades of traditional seasonal and holiday colors, with flowers and fruit as the predominant motif.

The proceeds for the two-day festival will go to LARC, and because the children at LARC School seemed to be quite enthusiastic about the festival, a group of them was invited for a preview at the Governor's mansion on Wednesday morning.

NU Dames Have Own Job Corps

Almost everyone knows that the NU Dames have considerable on their collective minds. As everyone also knows, the NU Dames are the wives of men who are students at the University of Nebraska.

What isn't too well known is the fact that in addition to the usual cooking, laundry, bed-making and such and things, the Dames have time for philanthropic projects — and philanthropic projects take money.

To avoid any infringement on family budgets and to keep the piggy bank intact, the Dames earn the money that is used for their philanthropies.

The Dames are babysitters preceding each game at the Memorial Stadium and, we might add, their money-making project is a tremendous success. The children, sometimes as many as 150, are taken to the babysitting quarters — the basement of the Student Union — where they have good care and entertainment until parents pick them up after the game.

The Dames have a special bulletin for this Saturday — Game time is at 12:30 o'clock and we are told that the babysitting service will be ready for business at 11:30 o'clock.

Dinner Dance

Dining and dancing at the Hotel Lincoln next Tuesday evening will be the members of the Fifty-Fifty Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Layman, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Seacrest, will be in charge of arrangements for the 6:45 o'clock party, which will have a Thanksgiving theme.

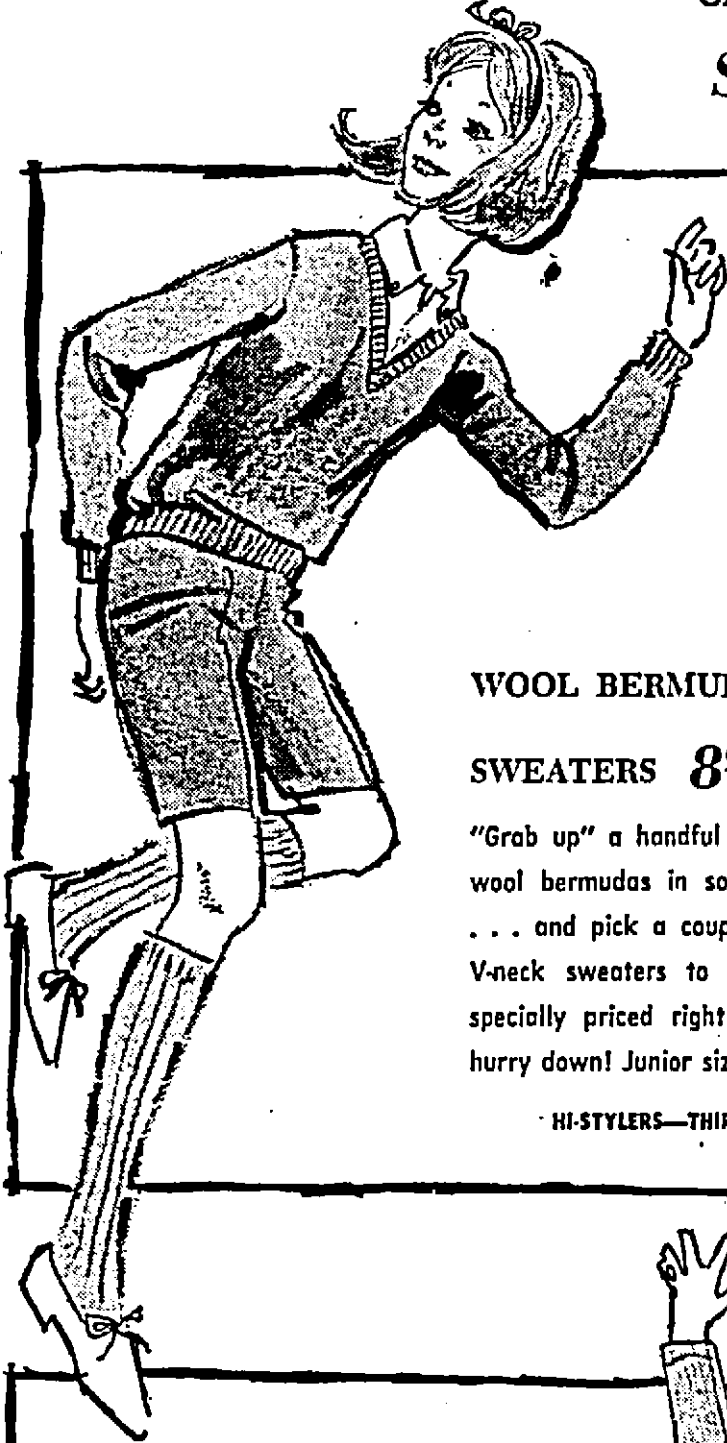

Members of the host and hostess committee will include Mr. and Mrs. Guy Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Trabert, Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Colwell, Mr. and Mrs. David Gregory, Mr. and Mrs. Myron Julian, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Phillips and the Rev. and Mrs. Thomas Keefe.

of suburban areas

PARK MANOR

While entertaining at home occupied some suburban residents, others decided to spend the weekend in Colorado. Mr. and Mrs. Donald Kuhle flew with C. M. Fuller and Miss Barbara Engel to Denver for the Nebraska-Colorado game last Friday.

Friday evening they were entertained at the George Anderson home in Lakewood, Colo., a suburb of Denver, and on Saturday, at a Nebraska victory celebration when Mr. and Mrs. John Pryhne, of Littleton, Colo., entertained at their home. The Nebraska group returned on Sunday afternoon.

Arriving today from Oakland, Calif., is Mrs. Lawrence Boy, who plans to stay for about two weeks at the home of her niece Mrs. Julio Camoriano, and Mr. Camoriano.

Mrs. Boy, a former resident of Valley, Nebr., plans to spend part of her vacation with friends and relatives in Valley.

The Missouri game will bring Mr. and Mrs. James Courtney, former Lincoln residents, and loyal Cornhuskers back to Lincoln for Saturday's game. They will be guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willis D. Moreland.

Now residents of St. Louis, Mo., it will be strained loyalties for the Courtneys, who plan to bring son Lee, 16, and daughter Casey, nine, for the traditional battle.

The bidding:
East Pass 1 ♠ West Pass 4 ♠

Opening lead — queen of hearts.

Let's say you're declarer at four spades and West leads a heart which you win with the ace. There doesn't seem to be much to the play of the hand, so let's assume you first cash the ace of trumps, ruff a heart in dummy, and then start to run the clubs, hoping to discard a diamond on dummy's fourth club before somebody ruffs.

But East unkindly interrupts the procession of clubs, ruffing the third one, and then is mean enough to lead the queen of diamonds through your king, so that you wind up going down one.

You could charge the result to bad luck without being far off the mark. After all, West could have had the high trump instead of East, and this would have given you the contract with an overtrick. Similarly, East could have had the ace of diamonds instead of West, and in that case you also would have made eleven tricks instead of nine.

But just the same, if you played the hand as described, you didn't try hard enough. What you should have done was ruff a heart in dummy at trick two, lead a trump, and then play low when East followed suit with the jack.

West would have been forced to take the jack with the queen, and you would then have been on Easy Street. Regardless of which suit West elected to return, you could draw the missing trump and eventually discard a diamond on the fourth club.

The recommended method of play is altogether consistent with the thought of keeping East, the danger hand, out of the lead.

It is true that East might frustrate your plan by playing the king instead of the jack on the early trump lead from dummy, but, even so, you ought to give him this chance to shine instead of making things easy for him. If he is smart enough to put up the king, you should arrange to change partners as soon as possible and start playing with him, not against him.

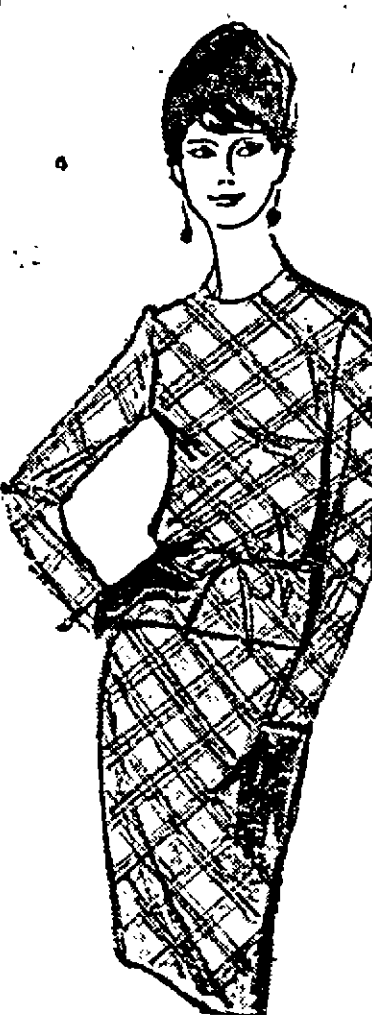

Program

Mrs. Arthur Perry was hostess to the Evening Musical on Wednesday at her home, 6335 East Shore Dr.

The 11 o'clock morning program was given by Mrs. Milburn Johnson, Mrs. Eugene Johnson, Mrs. Ellis Dann, Mrs. E. B. Chappell, Mrs. W. E. Hemmer, Mrs. George Work, Mrs. David Braught, Mrs. Daniel Howell, Mrs. E. C. Bohmer and Mrs. Perry.

Some time ago R. M. M. of Battle Creek asked for the ingredients for making "paper logs" for a fireplace by soaking newspapers in different solutions to make different colors after the papers have been dried. Today I am happy to report that we have the directions for her. It is just in time for the cool weather. It does take time to make the logs, however, so those who would like to have some ready for the holiday season should start making theirs right away.

Dear Rita: Here are the instructions for making "paper logs" for R. M. M. of Battle Creek. She will need lots of old newspapers, a four or five gallon stone crock, four pounds blue stone in the crystal form (or four pounds of copper sulfate in the powdered form), three pounds of rock salt and one gallon of water.

Roll newspapers into logs four, five or six inches in diameter. Do not roll too tightly as the newspapers will swell. Tie at both ends and in the middle.

Mix ingredients in the water and pour into the stone jar. Turn the logs on end and stand in the solution. Each day turn logs end for end and stir solution. Add more water if necessary. Soak for three or four weeks.

Dry on a rack so the air will get to the logs. It will take five or six weeks to dry them. One log will burn most of an evening and will give out warmth and pretty colors. Put from Weeping Water.

Thank you Pet. Umm! Logs burning in the fireplace, apples that are now hanging so prettily from our trees, and family cheer. Sounds like cozy evenings ahead.

Here is a request from Margaret of Albion.

Dear Rita: Have you ever had to wait and wait for the soap suds to clear out of your sink or lavatory before you could fill it with clear water so you could rinse whatever it is that you are washing? You add water and it takes a few of the suds down the drain while you stand there and wait. Then the process is repeated again and again while you wait. Do you or any of your readers have a solution to this problem? Thank you, Margaret of Albion.

Dear Margaret: Yes indeed, I have had this problem many times. I read once where salt sprinkled on the suds would eliminate this problem. I have not found this to be a very satisfactory solution, however. It speeds the process a little, but not enough, especially if you are in a hurry. Perhaps one of our readers has a better solution. If so, won't you please share it with us?

So many activities are in full swing right now. School has a good start, fall house cleaning time is here, parties are being planned, and the holidays are right around the corner. Do you have any hints, short cuts, or ideas to share with us? We would love to have them to share with our readers. Or, do you have any requests? Our readers are generous with their answers and we will do our best to help you.

Send your hints, questions and answers to Rita in care of The Lincoln Star. Send your real name, but if you would rather we didn't use it send a pen name also. We will not publish your real name if you do not wish.

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I were divorced before Jimmy was born. Jimmy has just entered kindergarten and is asking a lot of questions about where his daddy is. His father lives here in town, has remarried and built a life of his own. He pays child support but has not seen Jimmy in years. I told the boy his daddy went to war and is "missing" so maybe he is in heaven with Jesus.

My friends say I should have told him the truth, but I just couldn't because if he knew his daddy was here in town and didn't care enough about him to come and see him he would feel very hurt and would probably hate his father. Please tell me what to do.

VEGAS
DEAR VEGAS: Wait until the time is right. Then tell Jimmy the truth. And explain that you made up that story about his daddy being missing because you thought at the time he was too young to bear the truth. (It's true.) You can't keep Jimmy from being "hurt" because his daddy doesn't visit him. But you can try to keep the boy from "hating" him—by explaining that daddy may have reasons "we don't know about" for staying away—which could also be true.

DEAR ABBY: What is the difference between "made-moiselle" and "madame?"
R.F.J.

DEAR R. F. J.: "Monsieur."

DEAR ABBY: I am 15 and my boy friend is 17. My parents tell me I cannot have my boy friend over while they are gone. Well, he comes over anyway. This is purely accidental. I tell him to call first, but he doesn't call, he just comes over and when my parents come home and find him here I get killed.

We don't do anything wrong, Abby. We just listen to records, watch TV, and talk. Now just tell me what we're doing wrong? Please print this, as I am—

IN DEEP WITH DAD

DEAR IN DEEP: You are disobeying your parents' instructions, and your boy friend is ignoring yours. If you refused to let him in when your parents are not at home, he wouldn't continue to come over unannounced, and then you wouldn't get "killed." Neither would you be "in deep" with dad.

DEAR ABBY: My husband went to a party last Friday night. In fact I drove him there. This was a party for all the guys in his shop. My husband told me there wouldn't be any wives there. I later found out that there were lots of wives there—that the husbands were told to invite them.

When I called him on it he swore up and down he didn't know he was supposed to invite me. Should I believe him? I am so hurt, I have been crying all day.

HURT
DEAR HURT: How's your husband's record for integrity? If it's good, believe him.

How has the world been treating you? Unload your problems on Dear Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal, unpublished reply, enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Council: Unicameral Should Set Proposed Income Tax

The Nebraska Tax Research Council reported Wednesday that a special advisory committee has tentatively recommended that should the State Legislature enact a new income tax law, the rate should be set by the Legislature rather than the State Board of Equalization.

The council, which stressed that it is not attempting to promote any particular piece of legislation, said the advisory committee in a preliminary report said a flat income tax rate should be applied to corporations while a graduated rate should be applied to individuals.

The advisory group, headed by Keith L. Knudsen, an executive with the Western Power and Gas Co., also said it believes a sales tax should be levied on retail sales of tangible property, with no exemption for food or clothing.

The 1965 income tax law, placed on the Nov. 8 ballot by referendum, authorized the State Board of Equalization to set the rate.

The research council's special study committee concluded that the legislature should have that responsibility, noting, "Congress determines the rate for federal income tax purposes."

The committee studied tax legislation in Colorado, Kansas, Missouri, Iowa and Minnesota as well as Nebraska.

'Progress' Chief Fears 'Dry' City

An official of the Progress for Lincoln Committee said Wednesday that Lincoln may become a "dry" city if the vote on liquor by the drink falls on Nov. 8.

Paul J. Brunsanahan, chairman of the committee, said, "If the prohibition forces defeat liquor by the drink, they probably will start a campaign to dry up all sources that now sell alcohol."

Some opposition to liquor by the drink comes from persons who honestly believe that no alcohol should be available and I respect them," Brunsanahan said, "but I wish they would come right out and admit that a 'dry' Lincoln is their goal."

No Nicotine Smokes Tax Exempt

The state tax commission Wednesday exempted a new no nicotine cigarette called "Bravo" from the Nebraska cigarette tax law.

Tax Department attorney William Peters said State statute clearly defines taxable cigarettes as "any roll for smoking made wholly or partly of tobacco."

"It is the opinion of the tax commissioner that the cigarette tax does not apply in this case," Peters said.

The cigarette, which is manufactured by Bravo Smokes, Inc., Hereford, Tex., is now only on sale in Omaha.

Owen Beach, a representative of the General Tobacco and Candy Co. of Lincoln, said other distributors in the state are seeking franchises for the product.

Beach said the cigarette, which its manufacturer says "contains wholesome leaf of lactuca sativa, a variety of lettuce, treated by a patented process to assure smoking pleasure," sells for about 50 cents for a package of 20.

Education No Longer Ignored In Nebraska, Sorensen Says

Weeping Water (AP) — Former presidential aide Theodore C. Sorensen said Wednesday education in Nebraska today "is no longer the forgotten stepchild it was prior to 1961."

"More than five years ago I spoke in McCook on the need for Nebraska to retain its young families by, among other things, improving its schools," he recalled in a speech prepared for delivery at a Cass County teachers institute at Weeping Water high school.

"That speech was met at that time with partisan distortion and blind abuse. Yet every theme it contained has in recent years been picked up and advocated by spokesmen for both political parties in this state."

"The drain of our youth and talent — the low pay of our teachers and educators — the outmoded financing and structure of our schools — all have been generally recognized and new remedies have been forthcoming."

Sorensen, former special counsel to President Kennedy and now a New York attorney, has returned to Nebraska to aid in the gubernatorial campaign of his brother, Democratic Lt. Gov. Philip C. Sorensen.

While pointing to educational gains in Nebraska, Theodore Sorensen said Nebraska "cannot afford to rest now."

"This is the side of the hill, not the summit," he declared.

"Our nation is entering a new educational era, with new nationwide programs, new teaching aids, and new levels of salary and finance."

"If Nebraska stands still now, other states — her neighboring states in particular — will pass her by and reap the benefits Nebraskans should reap."

"If Nebraska turns her back now on the gains she has made, the ground lost will never be recovered, for there is no sure way to reclaim the teacher or family who have gone elsewhere, or to replace the lost quality of a child's education."

"Our public servants — our leaders and decision makers — must be educated men and women in a very special sense of the word. They must be educated by experience in government, by a knowledge of their constituents, by a grasp of the issues and by an understanding of the importance of education itself."

Tax Recommendations Told

The Nebraska Tax Research Council Wednesday recommended that if a state income tax becomes operative, the rate should not be set by the State Board of Equalization.

It also suggested a graduated rate for individuals and a flat-rate for corporations.

The conclusions were drawn from a preliminary study of tax systems in the seven states surrounding Nebraska.

Emphasizing it was not taking sides in Nebraska's current tax struggle, the council said no ceiling should be placed on an income tax rate.

Fairmont Foods Declares Dividend

Omaha (UPI) — The board of directors of Fairmont Foods Co., declared the regular quarterly dividend of 25 cents. It is payable on each share of outstanding common stocks Jan. 3, 1967, to stockholders of record at the close of business, Nov. 25, 1966, Chairman E. D. Edquist said.

Nebraskans will vote Nov. 8 on the 1965 state income tax act, which contains no ceiling but does include a flat-rate for individuals as well as corporations. The law would provide that the rate be set by the board of equalization.

"The Congress of the United States determines the rate for federal income tax purposes and the Legislature of the state of Nebraska should determine the rates for Nebraska income tax purposes," the council said.

Curtis Rapped For Opposing Education Aid

A campaign leader for Gov. Frank Morrison said Wednesday 12 colleges and universities in eight Nebraska cities have received $7,795,840 in federal building project aid through a federal educational program which was opposed by Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb. L. Clark McCabe of Lincoln, statewide co-ordinator of Nebraskans for Morrison, said Curtis' vote on the Higher Education Facilities Act of 1963 "was a vote to deny these educational facilities to Nebraska."

"If Mr. Curtis had had his way, we would not have had these facilities — or we would have had to increase local taxes to pay for them," McCabe added.

Prince Breaks Nose At Rugby

London (AP) — Prince Charles, 17-year-old heir to the British throne, has broken his nose playing rugby, Buckingham Palace announced.

The royal profile took a denting at Gordonstoun, his Scottish school. He was taken to a hospital for treatment and later released.

His 16-year-old sister, Princess Anne, broke her nose last April. She was thrown from a horse.

Former Chief Of State Elected Head Of Vietnamese Assembly

Salmon (P)—Phan Khac Suu, a former chief of state, was elected chairman of Viet Nam's national constituent assembly Wednesday. Suu received 64 votes against 53 for the next highest among five candidates in the balloting for the assembly post. The assembly was elected in September to draw up a constitution for Viet Nam. Suu, 65, served as chief of state until June, 1965, when he and former Premier Phan Huy Quat both resigned and the government was turned back to the military. Parade is the big four-color picture magazine section in the "Sunday Journal and Star".

Housewives Prefer Bacon to Bonus Bingo Play

Give a housewife the choice between cheap bacon and bonus bingo and she'll fry the former and ditch the latter. Women from New York to California and Florida to Oregon appear to be doing just that in a massive supermarket boycott. . . .

The main gripe is that food prices are being jacked up to pay for what Colorado Agriculture Commissioner John P. Orcutt calls "stamps, bingo and what have you."

"We just want them to discontinue these bingo stamps and give us lower prices," Mrs. Richard Zalewski, Dayton, Ohio, said. Her group, MILK (Mothers Interested in Lowering Costs), planned a boycott of major food chains.

Metal Salvage Yard Use Permit Denied

... ON SWINGLE'S OLD LOT

By BOB SCHREFF
Star Staff Writer

The City-County Planning Commission Wednesday turned down a special use permit request to operate a metal salvage yard on approximately two of 67 acres formerly occupied by the Swingle and Co. rendering plant.

In its recommendation to the City Council, the commission asked that the comprehensive plan be studied with an eye toward adjusting zoning for reasonable land use in a larger surrounding area, including property proposed for residential use by Capitol Beach Manor, Inc., and the Swingle tract, which is now zoned L heavy industry.

All seven commission members present supported the denial motion made by Roy Green on the special permit application of Ezo Hill. Hill now operates a metal salvage yard at 6th and N.

Deter Urban Growth

The planning department had opposed the request on the grounds that the proposed use would deter urban growth to the west (a major concept of the comprehensive plan) and that there are ample facilities for these uses generally to the north of the city where the prevailing winds and proposed urban uses are more satisfactorily related to one another.

The City-County Health Department had also reported "It does not appear prudent to add to the burden of community sanitation problem."

Attorney Joe Ginsburg, representing Hill, said his client would accept a condition to the permit prohibiting burning. "There will be no burning or air pollution—this is not to be used for auto salvage, but the buying, selling and accumulation of metals," he said.

Hill proposed a five-year lease agreement with the Swingle Co., now located in Crete, with a five-year option to renew to use five existing buildings and two storage yards.

Charles Swingle Jr., president of the company, asked that the application be approved.

proved "to help relieve the burden since we had to leave Lincoln". Hill has "no intention of creating a nuisance", he added.

The request was opposed also by the West O St. Businessmen's Association and Capitol Beach Manor, Inc., represented by Lloyd Marti. Marti said he objected to "unreasonable use of the land, even if it is zoned industrial", which would deter the adjacent Capitol Beach expansion.

Area Will Be 'Finest'

"The Copple (Capitol Beach) area will be the finest and most expensive addition to the city" and when completed will represent $25 million in property on the tax rolls, he maintained.

Before voting, the commission considered but dropped a suggestion to approve the special permit for a five year period "with the understanding that the operation would cease if it proves to be detrimental".

Member F. Pace Woods argued that the city "shouldn't tell a man he can't use his bulldozers or property for a use that isn't detrimental to the area".

Heavy industrial use is the only appropriate zoning for the land in question, he said.

In other action, the commission recommended approval of an amendment to the zoning ordinance which would prohibit the lighting of golf courses in the AA rural and public use and A-1 single family dwelling districts, but also recommended that lighted golf courses be allowed under special use permit provisions.

The commission deferred until Nov. 9 another hearing on the applications of N. E. Copple and others for commercial rezoning on 34 acres of land near 52nd and R. A large shopping center and apartment complex is planned for the tract.

Other recommendations:

- Change of zone from AA rural and public use to K light industrial on property located on the west side of 56th a half mile north of Superior St., requested by Edwin L. Hart, approved.
- Change of zone from B-1 family to D multiple dwelling on 15 lots between 7th St. and Interstate 180, north of V St., requested by Victor Gruenther, denied.
- Change of zone from AA rural and public use to K light industrial in the vicinity of U.S. Highway 34 and the air base road, requested by Woodhaven Mills. The commission received a 4-3 favorable vote, but five votes either way are necessary.

OMAHA BUS LINE STRUCK FOR DAY

Omaha (AP) — Keystone Bus line drivers walked off the job Wednesday afternoon, then later agreed to return to work Thursday and Friday pending talks with management.

The Wednesday walkout on the bus line, operating in northwest Omaha, affected transportation to and from 4 public schools and a number of parochial schools.

James P. White, international representative of the Transport Workers Union, and president of Local 223 of the Omaha Transit Drivers, said the transport workers have been asked to represent the Keystone drivers in their dispute which is largely concerned with wages, working conditions and recognition of a union.

An Omaha school district spokesman explained that the school district has no contract with the bus lines but students pay a 15 cent fare for each ride. He said the district learned at noon that the drivers had walked off the job.

The 14 schools affected include three junior high schools, the Morton junior-senior high school and Benson and North high schools. The spokesman said the assumed parents had provided rides for the children stranded by the bus stoppage, but pointed out that none had great distances to travel.

Fund Started For Family Of Burned Child

Omaha (UPI) — A fund has been started for the family of an eight-year-old girl who suffered second and third degree burns over 45% of her body when burning leaves set fire to her dress.

Angela Constanzo, 1023 South 25th Avenue, Omaha, was listed in fair condition at Children's Memorial Hospital here.

St. Ann's School at 2239 Poppleton Avenue, announced it is starting a fund for Mr. and Mrs. Tony Constanzo, Angela's parents. Angela is a third grader at the school.

Sister Mary Sharon, principal, said the Constanzos have five other children and that Mr. Constanzo recently was released from the hospital.

Bank Robbed

Kansas City, Mo. (UPI) — Two men robbed the Livestock National Bank and fled with an undetermined amount of money. At least part of the loot was recovered 17 minutes later.

Waitress Takes Bandit's Advice

Portsmouth, Va. (AP) — "Don't get nervous," the gun-toting bandit told restaurant waitress Pauline Smith Wednesday as he announced a stick-up.

She didn't. She threw a cup of steaming coffee in his face and he fled into the pre-dawn darkness.

500,000 Expected To Vote In Election

... LAST DAYS CRUCIAL

By WILLIAM B. KETTER
United Press International Secretary of State Frank Marsh Wednesday estimated 500,000 Nebraskans will vote in the Nov. 8 election and party leaders said the 12 days before the ballot box showdown could be the most critical of the campaign.

Marsh said there are about 850,000 eligible voters in Nebraska. If three-fourths of these cast ballots, it would be the largest off-year election turnout in state history.

The present off-year high is 1962's 472,249. The all-time record was set in the 1960 presidential year election when 619,599 persons went to the polls.

Intense Interest

Marsh based his estimate on intense interest in the top races and the multitude of local issues that will appear on the ballot along with 18 state constitutional amendment proposals.

The secretary of state said absentee and disabled voters have been building ahead of the election at an encouraging pace.

State Republican Chairman
Walter Witthoff of Fremont and his Democratic counterpart, John Mitchell of Kearney, agreed that several races could be won or lost in the few days left before the electorate speaks.

Many Uncommitted

They noted there is a considerable bloc of independent voters in the state as well as a high number of persons from both parties that have not committed themselves yet.

Witthoff said President
Johnson's 90-minute visit to Viet Nam to visit American troops there should help the Democrats generally but not enough to overtake the Republicans in Nebraska.

"Viet Nam is the No. 1 issue in the voters' minds," he said. "They are looking for anything that will bring encouragement. All the news so far has been discouraging."

Bipartisan

Mitchell said the President's visit should not be an area of political speculation.
He said the war in Viet Nam is a bipartisan effort.

"I would hope this visit would give a good feeling to all Americans, Republicans and Democrats alike," he said.

Witthoff and Mitchell were optimistic about their chances in the general election.

Hopeful

"We're going to elect a United States senator and there's a chance we'll also elect a governor," Mitchell said.

Witthoff said he is "very confident" the GOP will be victorious in the senatorial and gubernatorial races as well as hold control of the Second and Third Congressional Districts. He added there's a "good chance" Fair-bury attorney Robert V. Den-ney can upset Rep. Clair Callan, D-Neb., in the First District contest.

Both state chairmen agreed campaign costs will be up this year from two years ago and 1962—the last off-year election.

They said the chief reasons are spirited contests for governor and the Senate coupled with increased advertising costs, particularly radio and television time.

Local Women Circulate Store Boycott Petitions

A group of Lincoln housewives began circulating petitions Wednesday in an attempt to force food prices down through a boycott of four major Lincoln grocery store chains.

Mrs. LeRoy Head, chairman of the Lincolnland Ladycotts, asked all housewives in the city to sign and honor the petitions which are being distributed.

Finky Dinky, Jack and Jill, Safeway Stores and IGA affiliates are listed as stores with high prices.

The petitions outline a four-point program which seeks:
—to help reduce the price of food for American consumers.

—to help provide a fair profit for the farmer, laborer and merchant.

Eliminate Devices
—to help eliminate various devices used by merchants at the consumer's expense to induce the purchase of groceries.

—to hold meetings where speakers will be invited to talk on the financial situation in the country.

Mrs. Head said that when the petitions are completed, they will be sent to the "appropriate" person in Washington. She did not elaborate.

She said the petitions urge housewives to "peaceably and without demonstration" refuse to buy groceries from the stores.

"We're going to dig in and stay dug in until prices are lowered," Mrs. Head said.
"We're also going to ask for a government investigation of the reasons for the current inflation."

Letter Writing
Mrs. Head said that she will launch a letter writing campaign to top-level officials in Washington.

On the other hand, a spokesman for the Lincoln Food Retailers Organization, G. M.
Singleton, said that food prices will continue to rise.

He added that it would be unrealistic to believe that prices will drop. He cited the high food transportation costs, labor costs, government taxes and regulation of farm prices and the housewives' demand for costly non-food items, out-of-season foods and delicacies as reasons for price rises.

Increased operating costs and a scheduled hike in the federal minimum wage law will also contribute to rising

Junction City, Kan. (UPI)
—Mrs. Sophia Reuter, 73, of Lincoln, Neb., was injured fatally Wednesday and her husband hurt critically when their car crashed off U.S. 77 north of here.

Mrs. Reuter was dead on arrival at the Geary County Hospital, where the husband, Henry J. Reuter, 79, was admitted for treatment of a broken collar bone and possible other injuries.

The highway patrol said the car went out of control on an "S" curve 4½ miles north of here, overturned and went down an embankment. The couple was reported en route to Harrison, Kan., to visit a daughter.

'No Atomic Bombs'

Las Vegas, Nev. (UPI) — Sen. Ross Pastore, D-R.I., said Wednesday that the United States must never be goaded into unleashing atomic bombs in Viet Nam.

Municipalities League Backs Amendment 2

The board of directors of the Nebraska League of Municipalities has voted to endorse proposed Constitutional amendment No. 2, Greg Stuve, league president, said Wednesday.

The amendment would authorize travel and per diem expenses for members of the state legislature.

"In view of the small salary and personal sacrifice many of the legislators make, it is only right that they be reimbursed for out-of-pocket expenses," Stuve said.

He asked for all cities to join the league in endorsing the proposed amendment.

Mayor Dean Petersen said he is in hearty agreement with the league action.

"I think we have been shortsighted for many years in asking our state senators to assume the entire responsibility for their out-of-pocket expenses while they are in session," the mayor commented.

Dobson Bid Low On Sewer Line

Dobson Bros. Construction
Co. was the apparent low bidder Wednesday to install a sanitary sewer line in Van Dorn St. from 58th to 66th.

Dobson bid $128,720, followed by H. R. Bookstrom Construction Co. $132,500 and N. L. Cole Construction Co., $135,350.

The sewer district was the only item on the city bidding agenda.

Asian Trip Goals Suggested

Republican congressional candidate Robert V. Denney has suggested four "minimum goals" of President Johnson's Asian trip. The objectives, he said, should include:

- A commitment from our Asian allies to match the number of American troops now in Viet Nam.
- A commitment from these nations to boycott countries now trading with North Viet Nam.
- A new political and economic organization to replace SEATO, which Denney said has fallen into disrepair.
- An agreement with our Asian allies that no concessions will be made to the communists which would leave any part of South Viet Nam under communist control.

Several Call Trip Gimmick

Washington (UPI) — Some Republican leaders said Wednesday President Johnson's dramatic visit to the Viet Nam war front was a political gimmick that would backfire against Democrats in the coming elections.

But most Republican and Democratic Party professionals contacted by UPI in a nationwide survey said the battle zone visit, and Johnson's Pacific trip generally, would have no major impact on the Nov. 8 voting.

While some Republicans pictured the whole trip as a political scheme aimed at improving the Democrats' peace-seeking image, a number of Democrats said the Manila Conference and the visit to combat troops could not help but boost Democrats supporting Johnson policy.

Who Will Gain?

A few Republicans, too, grudgingly conceded that Democrats would benefit, but a larger number on both sides took the view that all Americans would gain. These included Sens. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., and Clifford P. Case, R-N.J.

These were some of the reactions to Johnson's trip:

John Palazzo, GOP chairman in New Hampshire: "The people are aware this was political and will not be misled. It will hurt him rather than help. The people feel such a move should have been made long ago."

Rep. Tom Curtis, R-Mo.: "Voters will wonder why did Johnson wait so long before visiting Viet Nam and why is he doing it right before an election?"

Robert J. Corber, Virginia GOP chairman: "It appears LBJ is attempting to shore up his sagging political fortunes at home. This will have an adverse effect on Virginia's Democratic candidates."

"Help Hatfield"

Oregon Republican Chairman Don Hodel: "I'm delighted he did it. It should help Gov. (Mark) Hatfield because it is one more step taken by Johnson which in accord with what Hatfield has advocated."

Oklahoma Gov. Henry Bellmon: "Unless the trip produces immediate and visible beneficial results in Viet Nam, it will further erode American voters' confidence in President Johnson and result in a larger Republican role."

Nebraska GOP Chairman Walter Witthoff: "The voters are looking for anything that will bring encouragement from Viet Nam, so it will help Democrats."

Colorado Democratic Chairman William Grant: "I think it should be good (for Democrats) because it demonstrates in a dramatic fashion how hard the President is trying to find some means... to establish a basis for negotiations."

Gerard F. Doherty, Massachusetts Democratic chairman: "It can't help but have a favorable impact on the elections."

Congo's Mobutu Fires Premier, Increases Power

Kinshasa, the Congo (A) — Brig. Gen. Leonard Mulamba was fired Wednesday as Congolese premier and then appointed defense minister by President Joseph Mobutu.

But sources close to Mulamba said in Kinshasa later that he has declined the appointment. Details were not disclosed.

In firing Mulamba, Mobutu took over the premier's office and decreed a "presidential regime." He announced that other cabinet ministers would remain in office.

Mulamba's dismissal had been expected because of accusations that he was implicated in the recent Katangese mutiny in Kisangani, formerly Stanleyville.

Vatican Knocks Sartre

A. Vatican weekly said Wednesday that although the Roman Catholic Index of forbidden books has been abolished, Catholics still should not read the writings of French existentialist philosopher Jean Paul Sartre.

POSTCARD

Here it is late October. A warm and sunny morning on the Atlantic coast of Portugal. The songbird totrist shows no signs of going home.

It is 73 degrees here; Athens, 84 and fair; 57 in London and drizzly (and hotels full); Paris, 64 and cloudy; Tel Aviv, 82 and sunny; Zurich is 66 and fine.

Restaurants are full. A Paris restaurant lost its two-star Michelin rating, and the owner shot himself. The Frango Real in Estoril wouldn't take a reservation for dinner last night. And they're not that good.

"We'll get them over here," said an airline man at lunch yesterday in Lisbon. "But where will they lay their weary heads?"

In 1968, the British and French will be flying the supersonic Concorde. Whoosh! New York to London in a couple of hours.

By 1970, the airlines will be in the air with 500-passenger jumbo jets.

"We'll fly five times as many passengers per load at half the present air fares. You can go to Paris on three-day holiday weekends."

In London the other day, a tourist coach pulled up outside a fashionable Mayfair hairdresser.

Sixty American women got out. Went in and got themselves shampooed and set. It must have been a sight to see. The gimmick tour — (mass eating, mass hairdressing and on to the next attraction)—is very big these wanderlust days.

Well, we got rid of a ghost that fair scared the wits out of Her Majesty's Royal Army Medical Corps at Aldershot, Hants, England.

The blighter made noises in empty rooms. Bolts were drawn by invisible hands. And there were 'orrid noises of a body rolling down stairs.

They sent for a medium—a Mr. George McAllister. Immediately he got in touch with the ghost on the psychic blower. The ghost promised to call it off. It was a man who lived in the house in 1835, said McAllister.

"He had committed suicide after making both his wife and his maid pregnant. He referred to the maid as Frankie."

The perisher didn't refer to his wife at all. And if I'm any judge, he's in big trouble right now.

I drove over the New Ponte Salazar yesterday. The big, red, two-towered suspension bridge is a ringer for San Francisco's Golden Gate.

Only the middle lanes are openwork lattice, to let the wind blow through. The rail at the outer lane is about two feet high. I mean, you are looking way down there.

The new bridge—it spans the Tagus and connects north and south Portugal—breaks a 16th century curse.

On one of Lisbon's seven hills is the 300-year-old Church of Santa Engracia. Burglars broke into it. A man named Simao was wrongly accused. As he mounted the scaffold, he said:

Well, walls collapsed. And earthquakes shook it up—as should be with a well thought out curse.

Anyway, they're completing it this year. The only connection is that people used to say the Tagus would be bridged when Santa Engracia was completed — meaning never.

Not a very good curse. But the best I can find this sunny morning.

RFK's Clasp Found.
Oxnard, Calif. (UPI) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's tie clasp, given to him by the late President Kennedy, was found by Tom Almaguer, 38, Moorpark, Calif., authorities reported.

... RECRUITED THROUGH BASKETBALL

How about a little high school star being recruited for a big college football team because he impressed recruiters with his basketball ability?

That's exactly what happened in the case of Nebraska's Larry Wachholtz, premier safety of the Big Eight Conference, if not the nation.

Frankie Solich yielded his "Smallest Man" title to Wachholtz this fall after the Huskers' diminutive duo battled each other on the scales for two seasons.

But now that he's sole owner of the "Smallest Husker" title, Larupin Larry is standing taller than ever amidst the Cornhusker defensive platoon. And the tough little (5-8, 166) safety is the Huskers' leading scorer, too.

Time after time this fall—just as he has for three years—Wachholtz has made the big defensive play. Maybe it's an interception (like two against Colorado), or a key tackle (like three times throwing K-State's Cornelius Davis for losses on sweep attempts), or being the last man between the ballcarrier and the goal and making the tackle (like against Wilmer Cooks and Bill Hurris of Colorado).

The versatile North Platte senior, a solid All America candidate after earning All Big 8 and second-team All America laurels last year, is a constant threat during the entire game.

Few men in the nation can match his punt-returning skill. Last year he ranked No. 2 in the nation and he's led the Big 8 for three straight. This year he's averaging 14.2 and his 72-yard TD jaunt with a Utah State punt put that game on ice.

And for curtain calls, Wachholtz can swing his toe—so accurately, in fact, that he's the NU record holder for extra point kicks. Last year he led the Huskers in scoring with 36 extra points and three field goals for 45 points. His 36 of 39 PATS set a Nebraska record.

And he's defending his title this year, currently leading the Nebraska punt parade with 31 points, based on 13 of 15 PATS and four of six field goals, plus a TD on a 72-yard punt return.

How did a little 150-pound high school footballer catch the eye of Cornhusker scouts?

Strangely enough, Wachholtz impressed Nebraska football coaches by the way he played basketball. Here's the way Jim Ross, Nebraska's defensive backfield coach, tells the tale:

"We knew about Larry because he was the quarterback on the state championship team, and we were really interested in the fullback, Pete Tatman. But we were afraid Larry was just too small to make it in the Big 8.

"Then we watched him play basketball with North Platte in the state high school basketball tournament at the Coliseum. North Platte really wasn't a great team, and I think they lost the first game, but Wachholtz fought every second—he was a real hustler who looked like the best competitor we'd seen.

"So we figured if he would play that hard in a lost cause, he might be the kind of boy we wanted on our football team. We've never been sorry because Larry is as fine a defensive back, and as fine an all-around football player as there is

As a Husker co-captain with quarterback Bob Churchich—both late-summer bridegrooms, by the way—Larry constantly leads by example. He's not a hollerer, but he has never expected any of his mates to do anything he won't.

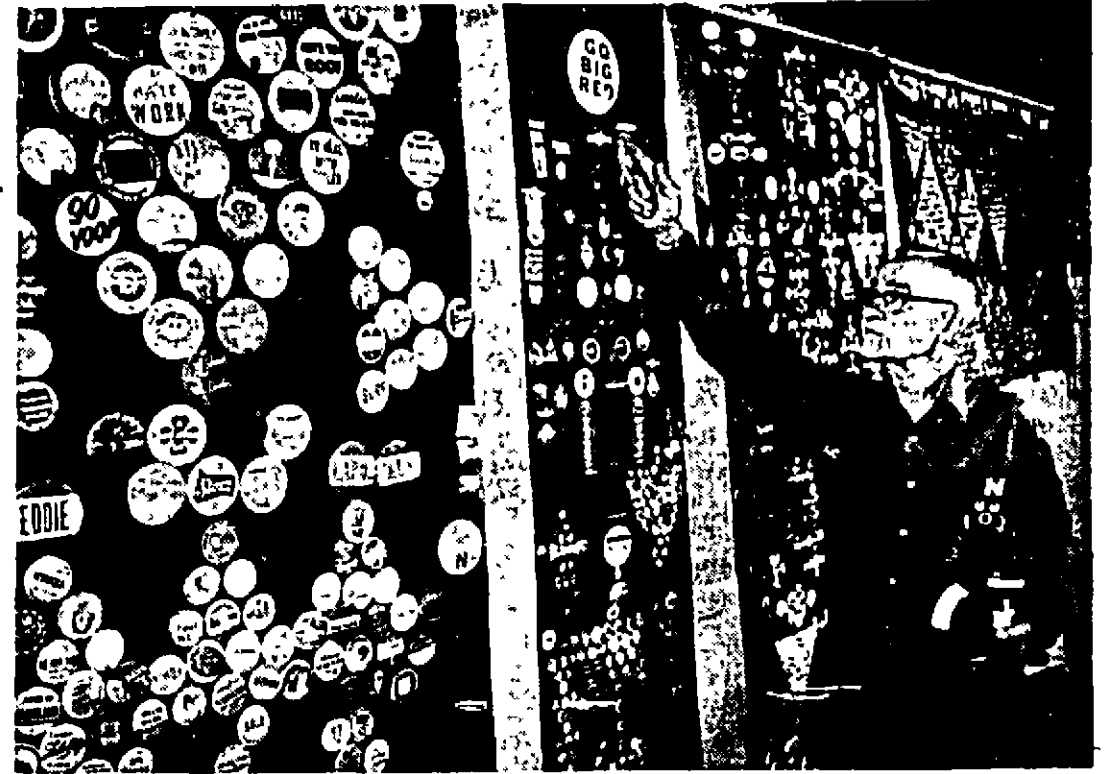

"He'll tackle anyone, anyhow," says coach Bob Devaney. "He's a great competitor and a fine athlete, one of the finest athletes we've ever had the opportunity to work with."

How does he avoid injury in a big man's game? "I can't tackle all those big guys by hitting them head-on," says Larry. "But if I have to, I'll try. Actually, when it's up to me to make a tackle, I've got to get the guy down anyway I can—around the ankles, around the middle or around the neck."

Sure I've had to think about injury. That's why I've tried to do the job in a way to best protect me from getting steam-rollered. I'm aware that some of those guys are pretty big men—so I try to stop them without fielding their full force."

How about punt returns? "Sometimes they are planned—like which side of the field we'll try for a return—but a lot of the secret is following blockers," Wachholtz says. "You really don't have a lot of time to think when you wait for the punt and then set sail—so I guess a lot of it is done by instinct."

After a mement's reflection, Wachholtz grinned and added: "Well, maybe not instinct. In my case, it's probably just a case of trying to survive. I guess I'm just running for my life."

WHO'S GOT THE BUTTON... R. M. Pettet of Lincoln has more than 3,200 of them.

SOUTHEAST TIES PIUS

2nd-Ranked Club Falter

... PIUS LOSES FOUR FUMBLES

Lincoln Southeast halted the seven-game win streak of Pius X and pulled the upset of the 1966 Lincoln football wars with a 7-7 tie at Seacrest Field Wednesday night.

The Knights stopped the Thunderbolts cold in the second half, allowing them only one first down and 24 yards rushing.

Neither team was able to generate a scoring drive in the final half although the Knights pushed to the Pius 31 before being stopped. With a third and seven situation, Lutz attempted a pass in the end zone but it was broken up by the Pius secondary.

Bill Guilford then tried a 41-yard field goal which fell short of its mark and put an end to the Southeast threat. The Bolts pushed to the 50-yard marker for their deepest movement into enemy territory in the second half but were halted on their own fumbles.

Mike Manning blocked a punt by Roberts late in the final stanza, and Pius took over on their own 44. The

Big Button Collection Still Grows

Ask R. M. Pettet of 2919 F how many buttons he has hanging on his basement wall and chances are he can't tell you for sure.

At last count it was 3,259, but that was a couple of minutes ago. "I can hardly keep count any more," he says, "because new ones keep showing up."

Pettet, who has been retired from his job with Consumers Public Power for six years, has been collecting buttons since "about 1906 or '07 or '12 or '13."

The buttons include campaign buttons, football buttons, store advertising buttons, service club buttons and even a few buttons that shade on the risqué.

"I'm not proud of those," he says in discussing the latter, "but if people give them to you, what are you going to do with 'em? He hangs them up."

Among the buttons he is most proud of is one showing the "Stiehm Roller" Huskers of Jumbo Stiehm in 1913. The button contains pictures of all the stars of that team and Pettet recalls those days with vivid memories.

"I used to be a neighbor of Max Towle's who was on that team, and I'd carry his helmet or something to get into the ball game," he recalls.

Pettet still follows the Huskers, but doesn't attend as many games in person as he once did. "I can't stand such big crowds any more," he points out. "I guess I'm getting old."

"I went to the Kansas State game this year and that night I was wore out."

He admits he had given up on the Huskers winning last Saturday and missed the 21-19 comeback over Colorado. "I went out into the yard to work at halftime and when I came back in we were ahead 21-19," he explains.

In addition to his button collection, Pettet collects stamps and also makes candy and nut trays that resemble football players holding them.

The trays carry the "Go Big Red" insignia and most are in the Scarlet and Cream Nebraska colors although he makes them in other colors because "the women seem to prefer different colors."

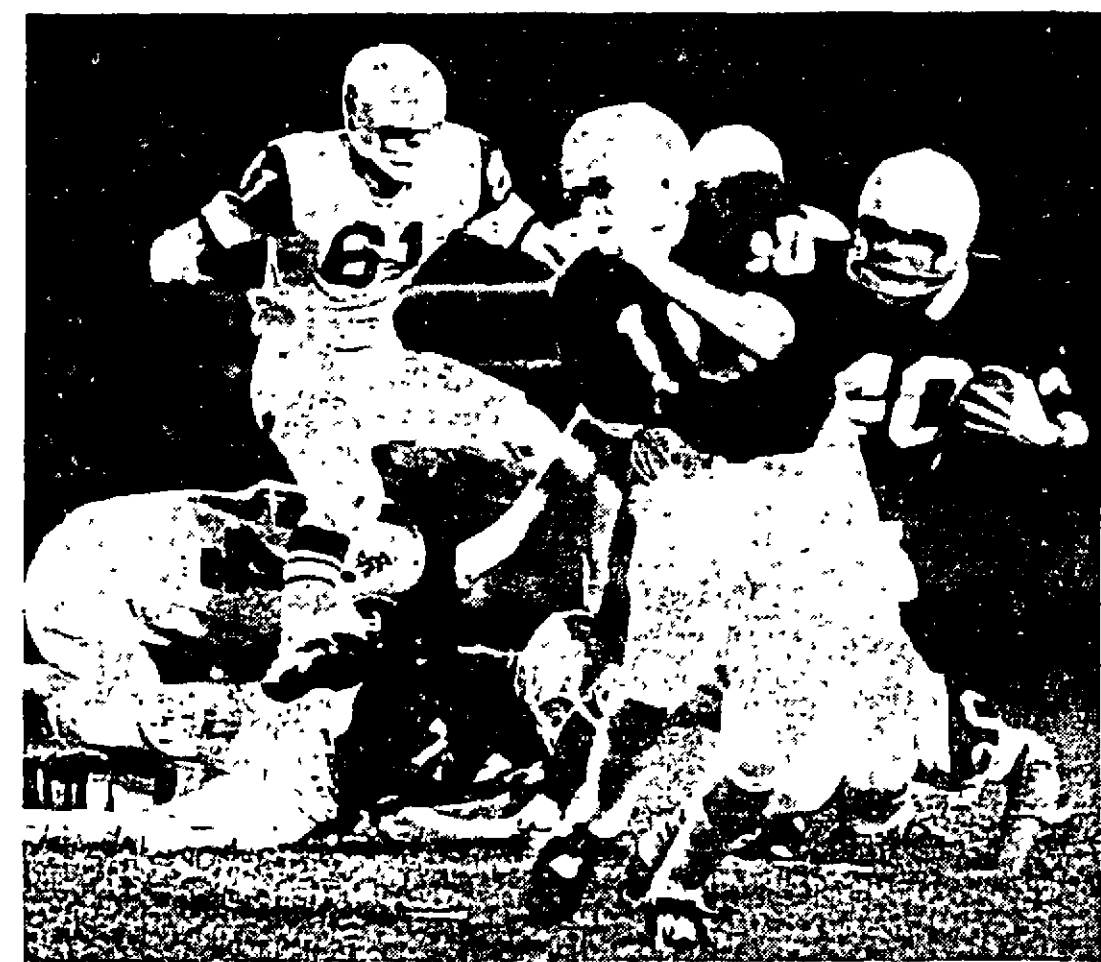

The items are for sale in some Lincoln stores. "It takes me two hours, 12½ minutes to make one," he explains. "I don't make much money on them, but it keeps me out of trouble."

Giardello Agrees To Fight Omahan

Omaha (UPI)—Trainer Dick Noland said here Wednesday that Omaha's Art Hernandez has signed for a 10-round bout with former middleweight champ Joey Giardello in Milwaukee on Dec. 12.

Giardello lost his title to Dick Tiger of Nigeria last year.

In Hernandez' last outing he lost on a TKO to Kelly Burden in Kansas City on May 29.

Missouri Harriers Run Huskers Here Friday

Columbia, Mo. (AP)—For the first time in three years, Missouri's cross-country team can finish above .500, with a win over Nebraska at Lincoln Saturday.

The Tiger hill-and-dalers downed Arkansas and Iowa State in their last two outings, after an opening loss to Kansas State—the league's 1965 kingpin.

Fairbury Fans Proud Of Carstens, McCord

... SPECIAL DAY SET SATURDAY

By DEAN TERRILL Southeast Nebraska Bureau Fairbury—This Saturday it will read all right both coming and going, the barn-red booster bus that doubles for NU and FHS football.

"Go Big Red" on one side and "Fairbury Jeffs" on the other both will apply as Fairbury sets a side a special day for its two Cornhusker sons. Ex-Jeffs Kaye Carstens and Jim McCord are defensive regulars, respectively as halfback and tackle.

"Since there are so many with season tickets, nobody really knows the number who will be going to Lincoln," said Delbert Dewey, helping spearhead the caravan from his sports-oriented barbershop.

"One thing I do know is that there hasn't been so much Husker talk around here since Fred Preston played end with the Rose Bowl team. I guess we've never had two University starters before."

Both of farm background, the grid duo were a year apart in high school until Kaye graduated in 1963. Carstens' amazing speed—he had it even as an eighth grader—was assigned to NU defensive duties despite his ball-carrying success as a prepster.

McCord, 250-pound line ruffian, has the special respect of home-townners familiar with his shattered leg. A truck accident eliminated football during his junior year in high school—and almost forever.

"We didn't even know for awhile if Jim would be walking again," recalled his mother, Mrs. Roy McCord. Needless to say, it takes no special proclamation to get the McCords and the Glen Carstens to the stadium.

Mayor Ted Scherbarth and the city council have officially declared Nebraska's date with Missouri as "Carstens - McCord Day." Telegrams with several hundred names are scheduled for pre-game delivery to the boys.

Several dozen Fairbury carloads are anticipated, besides the 1948 bus that may have its capacity tested as never before. Owners Jack Hansen, Bob Burkley, Stan Judd, Don Sass and Dale Starr incorporated to keep the vehicle "almost dependable" for football trips.

"We usually take 10 couples or so on the bus, but I don't know about this game," said Hansen. "I think all of Fairbury would like to squeeze in."

Devaney Discounts Mistakes As Factor

... RICHNAFSKY WON'T PLAY

By HAL BROWN Star Sports Editor

Talk that Nebraska's last three wins over Missouri were a result of "breaks" was disputed Wednesday by Husker coach Bob Devaney.

"Missouri is always a sound football team," Devaney pointed out. "And they are sounder again this year than any team we have played."

"When you beat Missouri, you have to play good football and mistakes in the last couple of games have not been the reason for us defeating Missouri."

Two years ago in the Huskers' 9-0 win, Missourians blamed a controversial safety for starting their Tigers' downfall. And last year, it was a personal foul penalty that kept a Husker drive going and led to the 16-14 NU win.

"I have never felt that we have beaten Missouri on mistakes," Devaney explained Wednesday. "Missouri makes fewer mistakes than any other team we play."

And this year's team is no exception, Devaney notes.

"They have been tested against good football teams," he explains. "They have played UCLA which is one of the best in the nation and Oklahoma State and Iowa State are both good football teams."

"No one has been able to overpower them," Missouri has blanketed three of its foes—Minnesota, Kansas State and Oklahoma State—and has given up more than one touchdown only to Illinois and UCLA.

With Missouri coach Dan Devaney undecided as to his starting quarterback Danny Sharp or Gary Kombrink, the Huskers must prepare for both.

"We must get ready for both of them," Devaney said. "They are a lot alike. Both run and pass well. And Sharp is a better runner than people give him credit for."

Both split end Dennis Richnafsky and halfback Ron Kirkland have been ruled out of action for the Saturday contest. The pair were offensive starters until suffering knee injuries.

NU coaches had hoped Richnafsky might have been ready for Missouri, but Wednesday they discounted that possibility.

However, end Tom Penney, who has caught 10 passes for 140 yards, was pronounced okay Wednesday and Nebraska's Larry Wachholtz has dropped to fourth on the national punt return charts with 229 yards on 17 returns. The leader, Doug James, of Princeton has returned 13 for 279 yards.

Wachholtz also is tied for 15th among kick-scoring leaders with 25 points on 13 extra points and four field goals. Oklahoma's Mike Vachon is tied for sixth with 29 and Wyoming's Jerry DePoyster is the leader with 42.

Colorado ranks ninth in rushing offense with a 218.8 average. Oklahoma State is sixth in pass defense at 82.8 and Kansas is second in punting with a 42.7 average.

AP's Grimsley Picks Missouri Over Huskers

Associated Press football forecaster Will Grimsley sees an end to Nebraska's domination of the Big Eight when the Huskers face Missouri.

Grimsley picks the Tigers by 24-10, saying, "Dan Devaney and his boys were thinking of this one when they were tied by Iowa State last week."

Devine Delays Verdict On 3 Tiger Gridders

Columbia, Mo. (AP)—Coach Dan Devine said Wednesday he would not decide until Friday whether three of his injured Missouri football players will play against Nebraska this weekend.

The three are end Russell Washington, fullback Barry Lischner and tackle Bill Powell.

—THIRD QUARTER BLITZ CAUSES TECH COLLAPSE—

Westside Routs Top-Rated Tech, 46-6

By DON FORSYTHE Prep Sports Writer

Omaha—Unbeaten and top-ranked Omaha Tech fell apart at the seams in the face of a stunning third quarter blitz by Omaha Westside and collapsed, 46-6, at Bergquist Stadium Wednesday night.

The third-ranked Warriors, once-beaten this season, carried only a 12-6 lead into the last three minutes of the third quarter, but after 146-pound halfback Guy Ingles took personal command of things they had catapulted to a 32-6 advantage when they started period No. 4.

Ingles scored three times in the last 2:48 of play in the period, finishing the night with four touchdowns and 157 of the 302 rushing yards rolled up by the Warriors. Tech, able to break for the big gains in the first half, took a quick 6-0 lead when quarterback Phil Wise hit end Earl Johnson with a five-yard pass with less than six minutes gone. Wise had set up the tally with a 56-yard scamper around end to the Westside four.

The Warriors responded with a 10-play, 65-yard march which was aided by a pair of 15-yard penalties to tie at 6-6 on a five-yard burst by Ingles.

A 72-yard drive capped by a four-yard run by Greg Walker with 4:08 left in the half let Westside take a 12-6 advantage at the intermission.

After the Warriors had fumbled on their own 27 on their first possession in the second half and had held the Trojans for no gain they got down to the business of blowing the Tech club right off the field. A 72-yard drive, featuring a 20-yard pass from Al Bach to Darryl Wilcox and capped by a Dave Turnquist to Ingles pass for 15-yards and a touchdown sent the Trojans reeling into submission.

That tally came with 2:48 left to play in the quarter and a quick interception followed by a 58-yard burst by Ingles and a fumble recovery at the 22 followed by 18 and 4-yard slants by Ingles sent the score skyrocketing.

Personal foul penalties added to the Tech misery in the last quarter as quarterbacks Bach and Keith Freeman added to the Westside tally.

The win gave Westside the American Division playoff berth in the Metropolitan Conference. The Warriors will face Benson, a previous 7-0

'Black Saturday' Coming?

DUNKEL SEES RASH OF POSSIBLE UPSETS

By DICK DUNKEL
Wammy warning!
Look for a wave of college football upsets this week.
The stage is all set for Black Saturday because an unprecedented two-thirds of the higher rating major teams will be playing away from home. The coincidence of Halloween makes this thing all the more frightful.
Another portent: Except for the snooty Top Four (Notre Dame, Michigan State, Alabama and UCLA) who seem to be beyond danger, index differences look unusually small throughout the list of games.

Here are those differences which the Top Ten have earned over this week's opponents. Remember — this is a season's past performance ratio, not a forecast, and shows what the leaders must do in order to maintain current ratings and standings.
Notre Dame 28 over Navy Mich. St. 28 over Northwestern
Alabama 28 over Miss. St. UCLA 28 over Air Force Southern Cal 10 over Miami, Fla.
Georgia Tech 20 over Duke Tennessee 17 over Army

Florida 16 over Auburn Purdue 9 over Illinois Arkansas 3 over Texas A&M
The higher rating teams have won in 75.3% of the 1,037 games, excluding ties, covered here through last week.
Schedule with ratings follows:

Scotts Boast Veteran-Rich Cage Roster

Scottsbluff (UPI) — Former Michigan State basketball coach Fordy Anderson has a veteran-laden roster as he starts his second cage season at Hiram Scott College here.
Last season, the Scotts averaged 103 points per game in posting 12 victories against three defeats. They have 10 members of that squad back.
Among the returnees is 6-4 forward Richie Moore, who averaged 29 points a game last season to lead the scorers. Moore has been picked as a "future" by the Philadelphia 76ers of the National Basketball Association.
Anderson said he has not been pleased with the performance of his veterans in early drills. He said they will have to improve to hold their starting berths.
One newcomer pushing for a starting job is Kish King, a high school all-American from New Orleans, La.
Assisting Anderson this year will be Robert Hanson, former basketball standout and freshman coach at Wyoming University.
The Scotts will play a 20-game schedule this year and will host the second annual Granite City Classic tournament.

Chinese Thumb Noses At Russia

Moscow (UPI) — Fifty Red Chinese students thumbed their noses at the Soviet Union with a salute to Stalin Wednesday before leaving the country on Kremlin expulsion orders.

They had a hard time getting through a posse of red-faced Moscow policemen, but eventually they deposited their wreaths in Red Square and departed on a bus singing China's latest hit song, "The East Is Red."

Inmate Asks Arson Ruling Be Reversed

The attorney for a State Penitentiary inmate involved in a 1955 riot at the penitentiary asked the State Supreme Court Wednesday to reverse the inmate's conviction on an arson charge.

Asa A. Christensen of Lincoln, representing inmate Gilbert Sagaser, said Sagaser was prevented from appealing the conviction and was deprived of witnesses to freely appear in his behalf at the trial.

Sagaser was sentenced to an additional nine years in the penitentiary for second degree arson in connection with an Aug. 16, 1955 riot and fire. He was convicted by a district court jury.

Christensen said the inmate was kept in solitary confinement following the conviction, preventing him from bringing an appeal, and he was not adequately informed of his right to contest the verdict.

Christensen also charged that penitentiary officials promised reprisals for any inmate who testified on Sagaser's behalf.

The police, hearing the students were coming to pay their last respects to Lenin and their arch-hero, Stalin, quickly sealed off the square with barricades and boarded up the entrance to Lenin's huge granite mausoleum.

"Closed for repairs," they shrugged when the busload of Chinese, wearing Red Guard armbands, Mao Tse-tung lapel pins and Maoist blue tunics, arrived at the square and demanded entrance.

"They want to make it a funeral procession," jibed Russian onlookers as the Chinese, carrying two six-foot wreaths of chrysanthemums, roses and irises, argued with the adamant militiamen.

The police finally said the students could enter the square by bus. The students agreed to go by bus. But the police said they were being "capricious" and forbade entrance altogether.

After about three hours of this, however, an agreement was reached. The students piled out of the bus with their badly wilted wreaths, posed for pictures, then got back on the bus and rode into the square.

But the mausoleum remained closed, and to reach Stalin's tomb, the students had to go through it. Police refused to open up, but promised, with a smile, to "put the wreath to Stalin where it belongs."

Commission Grants REA Shutdowns

The State Railway Commission Wednesday granted the application of the Railway Express Agency (REA) to close down offices in 25 small Nebraska towns and revise its trucking service in the Omaha vicinity.

There was no opposition to the firm's request. A commission spokesman said the reduction in service is a result of curtailed rail operations.

The REA will close its offices at Alexandria, Barneston, Boelus, Belvidere, Carleton, Chapman, Clarks, Cortland, Davenport, Deshler, Doniphan, Dannebrog, Elba, Fairfield, Glenvil, Hallam, Murdock, North Loup, Pickrell, Plymouth, Raymond, Richland, Ruskin, Scotia and Silver Creek.

The REA will also close its offices at Millard, Papillion and Ralston but will establish a branch package agency at Ralston and serve the other communities through its Omaha office.

Sponsors Of Tom Rehorn Up Campaign

Sponsors of the senatorial write-in campaign in behalf of Fullerton minister Tom Rehorn have printed 30,000 brochures and 500 bumper stickers and will purchase newspaper advertisements boosting his candidacy.

"We are getting more support than we expected," according to the Rev. Bruce McSpadden of Lincoln, chairman of the Tom Rehorn For Senate Committee.

Brochures have been mailed to members of various liberal organizations, including "peace groups," and to all Nebraska ministers, the Rev. Mr. McSpadden said.

Advertisements will be purchased in Omaha and Lincoln newspapers and some outstate publications, he noted.

Organizations have been formed in about 17 communities, he said.

Yard signs will also be used, the Rev. Mr. McSpadden said.

The drive has generated "a lot of support" among Omaha Negroes in the Near North Side, he said. Rehorn formerly served as a community organizer in the North Side.

Group To Reassemble

Hastings (UPI)—Forty members of the National Defense Education Act Institute in English which met last summer on the Hastings College campus will reassemble here on Friday and Saturday to give a critique of last summer's work.

Senate Write-In Candidate Rehorn For Peace

Tom Rehorn, write-in candidate for U.S. Senator, classified himself Wednesday as a citizen who loves his country but puts the "Kingdom of God" before the country.

He explained before an audience of about 75 people at a rally at the Nebraska Union that he is running on a peace platform. He said that in Viet Nam, the United States has entered a conflict in which it has no moral business.

Communism, according to Rehorn, has become an excuse for spending millions of dollars building up a military establishment to further imperialist goals.

Rehorn said that he supports United Nations Secretary General U Thant's three-point proposal for ending the war in Viet Nam:

- unconditional cessation of bombing in North Viet Nam.
- reciprocal scaling down of all military activities in South Viet Nam, leading to a cease fire by both sides.

—a willingness by all sides to enter into discussions with those who are "actually fighting." In other words, American agreement to negotiate directly with the Viet Cong National Liberation Front as well as with North Viet Nam.

Rehorn added that he would consider it a privilege to talk with Gov. Frank Morrison publicly about the issues of the campaign. However, he said, Morrison would probably consider him "too small" to debate with him.

Proposed Amendment No. 1
Constitutional amendment to eliminate the ineligibility of elective executive state office during the term for which they have been elected.

☐ For

TEXT OF PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

Be it enacted by the people of the State of Nebraska,

Section 1. That at the general election in November, 1966, there shall be submitted to the electors of the State of Nebraska for approval the following amendment to Article IV, section 2, of the Constitution of Nebraska, which is hereby proposed by the Legislature:

"Sec. 2. No person shall be eligible to the office of Governor, or Lieutenant Governor, who shall not have attained the age of thirty years, and who shall not have been for five years next preceding his election a resident and citizen of this state and a citizen of the United States. None of the appointed officers mentioned in this article shall be eligible to any other state office during the period for which they have been appointed."

Proposed Amendment No. 2

TEXT OF PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

Be it enacted by the people of the State of Nebraska,

Section 1. That at the general election in November, 1966, there shall be submitted to the electors of the State of Nebraska for approval the following amendment to Article III, section 7, of the Constitution of Nebraska, which is hereby proposed by the Legislature:

"Sec. 7. At the general election to be held in November, 1964, one half the members of the Legislature, or as nearly thereto as may be practicable, shall be elected for a term of four years, and the remainder for a term of two years, and thereafter all members shall be elected for a term of four years, with the manner of such election to be determined by the Legislature. Each member shall be nominated and elected in a nonpartisan manner on the ballot that he is affiliated with or endorsed by any political party or organization. Each member of the Legislature shall receive a salary of not to exceed two hundred dollars per month during the term of his office. In addition to his salary, each member shall receive a mileage allowance in traveling by the most usual route to and from home once every month that the Legislature is in regular or special session, plus a per diem allowance for each legislative day served but not to exceed one hundred twenty legislative days per session. Members of the Legislature shall receive no pay nor perquisites other than said salary and expenses, and employees of the Legislature shall receive no compensation other than their salary or per diem."

Proposed Amendment No. 3

Constitutional amendment to permit the state or governmental subdivisions to enter into contracts for services or training with private, commercial, and vocational schools.

Be it enacted by the people of the State of Nebraska,

Section 1. That at the general election in November, 1966, there shall be submitted to the electors of the State of Nebraska for approval the following amendment to Article VII, section 15, of the Constitution of Nebraska, which is hereby proposed by the Legislature:

"Sec. 15. The State Board of Education shall be composed of eight members, who shall be elected from eight districts of substantially equal population as provided by the Legislature. Their term of office shall be for four years each, except as hereinafter provided. Their duties and powers shall be prescribed by the Legislature, and they shall receive no compensation, but shall be reimbursed their actual expense incurred in the performance of their duties. The members of the State Board of Education shall not be actively engaged in the educational profession and they shall be elected on a nonpartisan ballot. In the general election of 1968, four members shall be elected to the board, two for two year terms, and two for four year terms. In each general election thereafter four members shall be elected for four year terms by districts as prescribed by the Legislature."

TEXT OF PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

Be it enacted by the people of the State of Nebraska,

Section 1. That at the general election in November, 1966, there shall be submitted to the electors of the State of Nebraska for approval the following amendment to Article VIII, section 1, of the Constitution of Nebraska, which is hereby proposed by the Legislature:

"The necessary revenue of the state and its governmental subdivisions shall be raised by taxation in such manner as the Legislature may direct. Taxes shall be levied by value uniformly and proportionately upon all tangible property and franchises, except that the Legislature may provide for a different method of taxing motor vehicles and may also establish a separate class of motor vehicles consisting of those owned and held for resale by motor vehicle dealers which shall be taxed in the manner and to the extent as provided by the Legislature and may also establish a separate class for trucks, trailers, semi-trailers, truck-trailers, or combinations thereof, consisting of those owned by residents and nonresidents of this state, and operating in interstate commerce, and may provide reciprocal and proportionate taxation of such vehicles. Provided that such tax proceeds from motor vehicles taxed in each county shall be allocated to the state, counties, towns, cities, villages, and school districts of such county in the same proportion that the levy of each said county on personal tangible property. The Legislature may enact laws to provide that the value of land actively devoted to agricultural or horticultural use, shall, for property tax purposes, be that value which such land has for agricultural or horticultural use without regard to any value which such land might have for other purposes or uses, and prescribes standards and methods for the determination of the value of real or other tangible property at uniform and proportionate values. Taxes uniform as to class of property or the ownership or use thereof may be levied by valuation or otherwise upon property of intangible character as the Legislature may determine, and such intangible property held in trust or otherwise for the purpose of funding pension, profit-sharing or other employee benefit plans as defined by the Legislature may be declared to be exempt from taxation. Taxes, other than property taxes, may be authorized by law. Existing revenue laws shall continue in effect until changed by the Legislature. The Legislature may provide that live-stock shall constitute a separate and distinct class of property for purposes of taxation and may further provide for reciprocal and proportionate taxation of live-stock located in this state for only part of a year."

Section 1. That at the general election in November, 1966, there shall be submitted to the electors of the State of Nebraska for approval the following amendments to Article V of the Constitution of Nebraska, to be known as sections 28, 29, 30, and 31, which are hereby proposed by the Legislature:

"Sec. 28. The Legislature shall provide for a Commission on Judicial Qualifications consisting of: (1) Two Justices of the Supreme Court, two judges of the various district courts, one judge of a municipal court, one judge of the Nebraska Workmen's Compensation Court, and one judge of the county courts, all of whom shall be appointed by the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court; (2) two members of the Nebraska State Bar Association who shall have practiced law in this state for at least ten years and who shall be appointed by the Executive Council of the Nebraska State Bar Association; and (3) two citizens, neither of whom shall be a Justice or Judge of the Supreme Court or judge of any court, active or retired, nor a member of the Nebraska State Bar Association, and who shall be appointed by the Governor."

"Sec. 29. The Commission on Judicial Qualifications shall select one of its members to serve as its chairman. The commission shall act by a vote of the majority of its members and no action of the commission shall be valid unless concurred in by the majority of its members."

"Sec. 30. (1) A Justice or Judge of the Supreme Court or judge of any court of this state may be removed from office for (a) willful misconduct in office, (b) willful disregard of or failure to perform his duties, (c) habitual intemperance, (d) conviction of a crime involving moral turpitude, or (e) disbarment as a member of the bar of the State of Nebraska, or he may be retired for physical or mental disability seriously interfering with the performance of his duties if such disability is determined to be permanent or reasonably likely to become permanent. Any citizen of the State of Nebraska may request the Commission on Judicial Qualifications to consider the qualifications of any Justice or Judge of the Supreme Court or other judge, and in such event, the commission shall make such investigation as necessary and in its discretion may order a hearing to be held before it concerning the removal or retirement of such Justice or Judge of the Supreme Court or other judge. In the alternative or in addition, the commission may request the Supreme Court to appoint one or more special masters who shall be judges of courts of record to hear and take evidence in any such matter, and to report to the commission. If, after hearing, or after considering the record and report of the masters, the commission finds good cause therefore, it shall recommend to the Supreme Court that the Justice or Judge of the Supreme Court or other judge involved shall be removed or retired as the case may be."

"(2) The Supreme Court shall review the record of the proceedings and in its discretion may permit the introduction of additional evidence. The Supreme Court shall make such determination as it finds just and proper, and may order the removal or retirement of such Justice or Judge of the Supreme Court or other judge. If he had retired pursuant to statute, upon his removal, the Justice or Judge of the Supreme Court or other judge shall be removed from office and his salary shall cease from the date of such order."

"(3) All papers filed with and proceedings before the commission or masters appointed by the Supreme Court pursuant to this section shall be confidential and the filing of papers with and the testimony given before the commission or masters shall be deemed a privileged communication. The Supreme Court shall by rule provide for procedure under this section before the commission, the masters and the Supreme Court."

"(4) No Justice or judge who is not member of the commission or of the Supreme Court shall participate, as a member of such commission, or as a master, or as a member of the Supreme Court, in any proceedings involving his own removal or retirement."

"Sec. 31. These amendments are alternative to and cumulative with the methods of removal of Justices and judges provided in Article III, section 17, and Article IV, section 5, of this Constitution, and any other provision of the Constitution of Nebraska, which is hereby proposed by the Legislature."

Section 1. That at the general election in November, 1966, there shall be submitted to the electors of the State of Nebraska for approval the following amendments to the Constitution of Nebraska, which are set forth in section 2 of this act and which are hereby proposed by the Legislature:

"Sec. 2. The amendments proposed are as follows:

(1) To amend Article VII, section 9, to read as follows:

"Sec. 9. All funds belonging to the state for educational purposes, the interest and income whereof are to be used, shall be deemed trust funds held by the state, and the state shall supply any net aggregate losses thereof realized during any calendar year that may in any manner accrue, so that the same shall remain forever inviolate and undiminished; and notwithstanding any other provisions in the Constitution or the Constitution of the Board of Educational Lands and Funds as the Legislature may by statute provide. Such funds with the interest and income thereof, are hereby solemnly pledged to the purposes for which they are granted and set apart, and shall not be transferred to any other fund for other uses."

Sec. 7. At the general election to be held in November, 1964, one half the members of the Legislature, or as nearly thereto as may be practicable, shall be elected for a term of four years, and the remainder for a term of two years, and thereafter all members shall be elected for a term of four years, with the manner of such election to be determined by the Legislature. Each member shall be nominated and elected in a nonpartisan manner on the ballot that he is affiliated with or endorsed by any political party or organization. Each member of the Legislature shall receive a salary of not to exceed two hundred dollars per month during the term of his office. In addition to his salary, each member shall receive an amount equal to his actual expense in traveling by the most usual route once to and from home once every month that the Legislature is in regular or special session. Each member of the Legislature shall receive no pay nor perquisites other than said salary and expenses, and employees of the Legislature shall receive no compensation other than their salary or per diem."

Big Names Fight To Stay In Congress

Washington (AP)—Some of the best known names in Congress, from Harry F. Byrd Jr. to Charles A. Halleck, are fighting to keep from the political oblivion that engulfed three committee chairmen and a former speaker of the House in primaries this year.

Chairmen Howard W. Smith, D-Va., of the House Rules Committee, A. Willis Robertson, D-Va., of the Senate Banking Committee and Tom Murray, D-Tenn., of the House Post Office Committee were knocked off in Democratic primary fights. Former Speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr. was defeated in a GOP primary.

At least four more chairmen, plus a key member of the House Democratic leadership, are in stiff contests in the Nov. 8 elections, although most are expected to pull through.

Close In '64 — One is Rep. Harold D. Cooley, D-N.C., chairman of the House Agriculture Committee. James C. Gardner, a Rocky Mount businessman who is half Cooley's age of 69, came within 5,000 votes of defeating the agriculture chairman in 1964 and hopes to win this year.

Just to the south, Rep. John McMillan, D-S.C., chairman of the House District of Columbia Committee, is in a stiff contest against Republican Archie Odum, a county clerk of court.

Two other House chairmen are considered favorites in contests revolving respectively about their age and their health. Rep. William L. Dawson, 80, chairman of the Government Operations Committee, has a vigorous young challenger in former basketball player David Reed, 25. But Dawson has beaten all previous challenges in his overwhelmingly Negro Chicago district.

In South Louisiana, Rep. Edwin E. Willis, chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee, is in some difficulty because of poor health, but is expected to whip Republican Hall M. Lyons.

Another member of the committee, Rep. Joe R. Pool, D-Tex., is considered in a close race against Republican James M. Collins, despite the publicity Pool received during the committee's hearings last summer into activities of antiwar groups.

Was In Trouble — One Senate chairman-to-be, Alabama Democrat John J. Sparkman, was considered in serious trouble some months ago but is now expected to emerge victorious against Republican John Grenier. Sparkman is due to succeed Robertson as Banking Committee chairman in January.

The House leader with a fight on his hands is Rep. Hale Boggs of Louisiana, No. 3 man among House Democrats. Boggs is under fire in his New Orleans district for supporting Johnson administration programs but is expected to defeat his little-known GOP opponent, Leonard L. Limés, a geologist and lawyer making his political debut.

Former Republican House leader Halleck of Indiana is getting his stiffest test in years from a young minister, Ralph G. McFadden. But even Democrats think Halleck is likely to win.

In the Senate, Byrd is expected to win a surprisingly split three-way race against Republican Lawrence M. Traylor and Conservative Party nominee John W. Carter for the seat of his late father which he holds now by appointment.

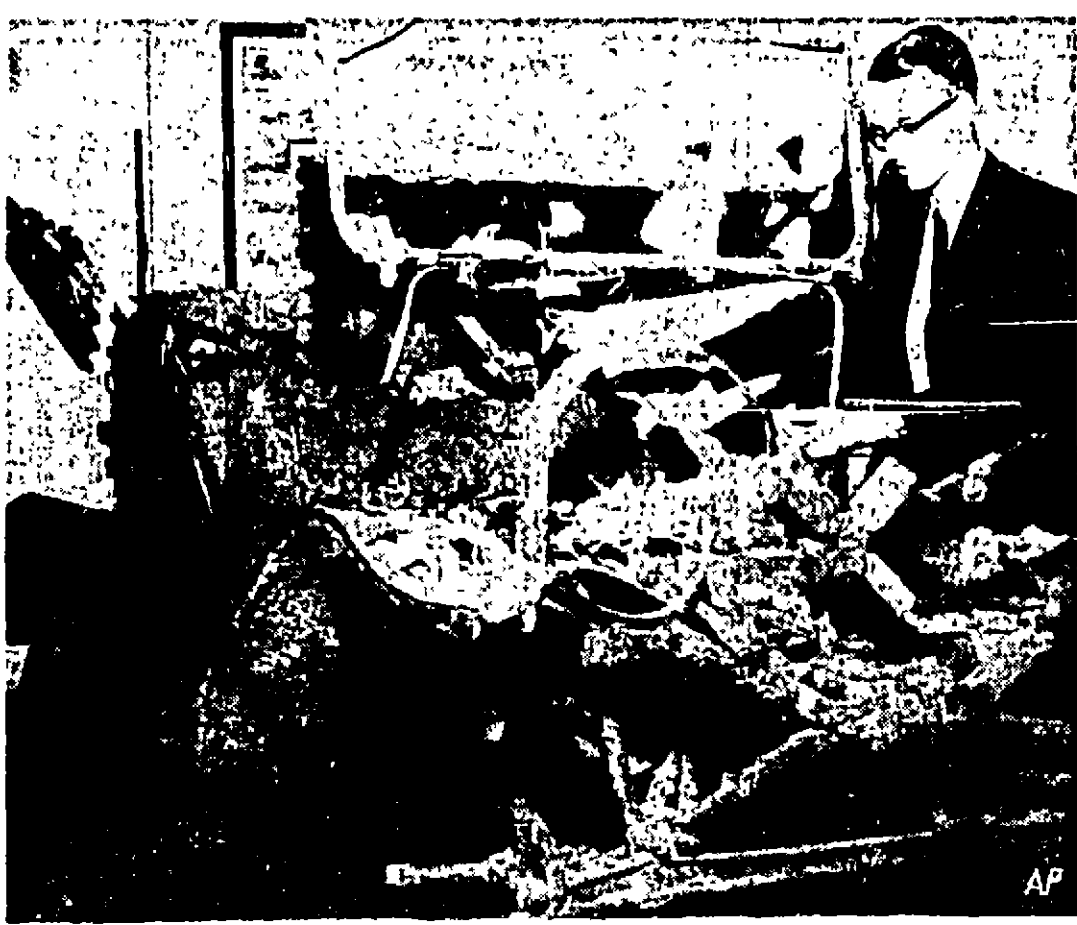

And Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., long a leader of the Senate's liberal bloc, is fighting for his political life against Republican Charles Percy in another race where age is an issue. Douglas is 74, Percy 47.

More Frontier Jet Service To Start Sunday

Denver (UPI) — Further expansion of Frontier Airlines jet service to additional cities in the Rocky Mountain west will take place on Sunday.

On that date, Frontier, using 96-passenger Boeing 727 jets will cut travel time between Denver and Salt Lake City via Grand Junction, Colo., and between Denver and Rapid City, with new non-stop service.

A month ago Frontier inaugurated its first pure jet service with the B-727 on a route between Denver and Kansas City via Lincoln, Neb. It has since received delivery of its second 727 and will receive additional delivery of tri-engine jets in the spring of 1967.

UNEARTHED MODEL T ON DISPLAY

Thereresurrected 1911 Model T has gone on display—mud, rust and all—at the Detroit Historical Museum. Pieces of fender, engine and roof which fell off when car enthusiasts dug up the car after a 40-year burial have been tied overhead. Museum official Harvey Versteeg, right, who directed the dig, hopes to restore the ancient Tin Lizzie.

Crowded School Buses Present Accident Hazard

Chicago (UPI) — A "tremendous overloading" of school buses in many parts of the nation has created a major accident hazard, the National Safety Council said Tuesday.

Another speaker said drunk drivers are responsible for one per cent of the nation's traffic accidents but account for "perhaps 50% of the fatalities."

J. B. Summers, vice president of the Superior Coach Corp., Lima, Ohio, said the school bus overcrowding causes "a definite vulnerability to accidents on the part of students. We have had specific reports of as high as 100 youngsters loaded on a 66-passenger school bus."

Spanish Land Grant Owners Leave Forest

Albuquerque, N.M. (AP) — A Spanish-American group abandoned Wednesday a New Mexico forest area it occupied for five days after a federal judge in Albuquerque issued a temporary restraining order to prevent possible bloodshed.

U.S. marshals were sent to the Carson National Forest of North-Central New Mexico to serve the order but found most members of the Federal Alliance of Land Grants already had left.

About 100 alliance members swarmed into a campground of the forest Saturday, saying it owned the land under an old Spanish land grant. Armed guards were posted by the alliance at the campground entrance and alliance President T. L. Tijerina hinted trouble if attempts were made to arrest the group's members.

State police said all members of the alliance left the campground without incident.

ACA Endorses Rep. Cunningham

Washington — Americans for Constitutional Action has endorsed the re-election bid of Republican Rep. Glenn Cunningham of Omaha, Nebraska's Second District congressman.

Steels Pace Rally In Stock Market

New York (AP)—Big gains by steels Wednesday paced the stock market to a kind of rally which has become almost old-fashioned, based on some good corporate news and hopes of better things to come. Trading was fairly active.

U.S. Steel's dividend increase, made known after Tuesday's market close, and Bethlehem's record third-quarter earnings, which were reported in late morning, helped rocket the entire steel group to a big gain.

The Dow Jones Industrial average advanced 8.91 to 802.00, closing above the once "magic" 800 level for the first time since Sept. 19.

Volume was 6.76 million shares compared with 6.24 million Tuesday. There was no question in anyone's mind as to what made the market rally.

Lighter Gilts And Barrows Steady, Lower

Omaha (AP)—Lighter weight barrows and gilts and sows were steady to 25c lower and heavier weights were down 25 to 50c on the Omaha hog market Wednesday.

Steers were steady to weak, helters steady.

Woolled lambs were steady, shorn steady to a quarter higher and ewes steady.

"Big Steel's" vote of confidence radiated out among investors in general and pulled the whole list forward," said Robert H. Stovall of E. F. Hutton & Co.

Gainers outnumbered losers by 890 to 310 among the 1,430 issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange. High for the year totaled 12 and lows 23.

The New York Stock Exchange index rose .38 to $42.78. Twelve of the 15 most-active stocks rose, 15 declined and SCM Corp. was unchanged.

Philadelphia & Reading was the volume leader, up 1/2 at 36 on 108,300 shares.

U.S. Steel, heavily traded from the start, was second most active and up 2/4 at 38 1/2. Bethlehem was fifth most-active, up 1/4 at 30 1/2.

Republic Steel rose 2/4, Jones & Laughlin 1/4, Armco 1 1/4 and Lukens 1.

Following reports of record earnings, American Smelting advanced 3/4, Allied Chemical 1/2 and American Tobacco 1/4.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 3 1/2 to 29.5 and indices up 4 1/2, rails up 1/2 and utilities up 1/4.

Prices were generally higher on the American Stock Exchange. Volume was 1.5 million shares compared with 1.4 million Tuesday.

Butcher Hogs Sell Steady, 25c Lower

Chicago (AP)—Butcher hogs sold steady to 50 cents a hundredweight lower in slow trading Wednesday for the offerings of 5,000 head, unchanged from a week ago.

The top of $23 was equal to Tuesday's high but it was paid more sparingly. Other mixed No. 1 and 2 grades moved at $22.50 and up and the mixed 1-3 at $21.25-22.50. With the extreme decline on heavier weights, the mixed 2s and 3s in the 220-280 lb range went at $20.50-21.50.

High choice and prime grade slaughter steers sold as much as 50 cents lower but other grades were mostly steady to 25c lower in moderately active trading.

Choice grade cleared at $24.25-25.50 and mixed 2s-3s at $22.50-25. Prime grade topped at $26.25.

Corn Closes With Fairly Broad Gains

Chicago (AP)—Corn was the only commodity which maintained any degree of stability in the grain futures market Wednesday and it closed with fairly broad gains on a bullish government report.

Wheat, rye and soybeans swung from weak to firm and back again with the trade largely controlled by speculators.

Corn was ahead about 3 cents a bushel in spots at times but it retreated slightly in late dealings on profit cashing which usually sets in after rapid runups.

The report on stocks of gains in all positions on Oct. 1, showed corn at only 866 million bushels, the smallest supply for that date in 13 years.

Wheat closed unchanged at 2 1/2 cents a bushel lower, December 2 1/2 cents lower, November 2 1/2 cents lower, and October 2 1/2 cents higher. Rye was 1/2 cent higher, December 1/2 cent higher, and November 1/2 cent higher. Soybeans were 1/2 cent higher, December 1/2 cent higher, and November 1/2 cent higher.

Rats Bring Plague In New Outbreak

Geneva (AP) — Rats are on the march again and bringing with them the ever-growing menace of a new outbreak of the Plague.

This was the grim warning delivered by the U.N. World Health Organization (WHO) as scientists from 16 nations gathered to discuss the next step in the war between man and rodent.

The alarm was sounded after a sharp increase in the number of Plague victims this year. Already the total of cases is 3,293 with 211 deaths compared with 1,326 cases and 120 deaths during the whole of 1965.

According to some estimates the rodent population of India alone has increased from 800 million in 1919 to 4.8 billion last year.

Federal Court Orders Negroes On State's Ballot

Biloxi, Miss (UPI) — A federal court panel Wednesday cleared the way for three Negroes to be placed on the Nov. 8 general election ballot in Mississippi as independent candidates for the U.S. Senate and two House seats.

The court issued a written opinion a few hours after a hearing arguments on a civil rights suit seeking to force the state to allow the three Negroes to run. A formal order in the case is to be issued later.

The three-judge panel's decision had the effect of temporarily suspending a new state law which raised the qualifying requirements for independent candidates. A civil rights attorney charged the law was in violation of the 1965 Voting Rights Act.

Moments after the court disclosed its decision, Atty. Gen. Joe Patterson said he had called the secretary of state's office with instructions to add the names of the three Negroes to the November ballot. Sample ballots already had been prepared without the names of the Negro candidates on them.

The three Negroes, backed by the predominantly Negro Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party (MFDP), are the Rev. Clifton Whitley of Holly Springs, Dock Drummond of Kosciusko, and Mrs. Emma Sanders of Jackson.

Whitley will oppose Sen. James Eastland, D-Miss., and Drummond, a retired plumber, will run against Rep. Thomas Abernethy, D-Miss., Mrs. Sanders, a housewife, opposes Rep. John Bell Williams, D-Miss.

Union Agrees With Free Press

Detroit (UPI) — Truck drivers and circulation department district managers reached agreement on a new contract with the Detroit Free Press Wednesday after 13 months of negotiations.

Members of Teamsters Local 372 agreed to accept the latest Free Press offer after a meeting which lasted for more than four hours.

Japan To Pay 'Debt'

Singapore (AP) — Japan has agreed to pay Singapore $17 million (U.S.) to settle a long-standing "blood debt" arising from destruction of lives and property during the World War II Japanese occupation of this island city-state. Half is a grant and the rest is described as a loan on favorable terms.

Salvation Army Wins Upland College Auction

Upland, Calif. (AP) — "I had a lady scratch her nose once and she bought a house in Bel Air," cautioned auctioneer Mark Dozar.

And except for the young man who swatted a fly—and nearly bought Upland College for $510,000—the auction of the school went off in a smooth 30 minutes.

Dozar said it was the first time an entire school had been auctioned.

150 Attend

About 150 persons—alumni, teachers, the school custodian, people who wished they had the money to buy and serious bidders—crowded the small wooden college chapel for the auction.

"750—who say 750? Okay, 650, who say 600?" chanted Dozar to start the bidding.

But no bids were forthcoming until Dozar asked "four, making with the four."

When the bidding reached $525,000, Dozar pleaded, "Ah, ladies and gentlemen, you have a minimum property here worth $1.5 million."

Use For Center

The Salvation Army says it would like to use the facility—the new $300,000 dormitory, gymnasium, athletic field, classrooms, administrative building and their furnishings—for an educational and conference center.

Church officials put the 46-year-old school on the block because of declining financial support, they said. Graduating classes have averaged 35 in the last 10 years.

Before the auction, interested bidders included persons who wanted it for a college for school dropouts, military academies, a winter home for a circus and a retirement home for baseball players.

But those who put their money on the line at the auction included financiers, real estate brokers and representatives of non-profit institutions.

Rome Mayor Accused Of Selfish Deeds

Rome (AP) — Rome's Mayor Amerigo Petrucci has been charged with misusing his authority "for private interest" as head of a state welfare agency prior to becoming mayor, a judge reported Wednesday.

Judge Giulio Franco said the charge was placed against the 44-year old mayor two months ago by a state attorney after a preliminary investigation.

It accused Petrucci of "using public authority for private interest" while he was administrator of the National Agency for Motherhood and Infancy in 1961.

The state attorney's probe followed allegations against the Christian Democrat mayor by the Radical Party, a small left-wing group.

The Radicals said Petrucci allowed the agency to pay religious institutions more money than they were due for taking care of orphans on trust to them by the state. They also alleged he allowed exorbitant prices to be paid by the agency for fruits and vegetables fed to children in orphanages run directly by the state.

The purpose of this, according to the Radicals, was to gather support for Petrucci's city council candidacy.

Nebraska City Seen As Major Port For Inlands

Nebraska City (AP) — Rep. Clair Callan, D-Nebr., predicted that Nebraska City would become a major inland port.

"The increasing foreign demand for U.S. food and mushrooming Nebraska agricultural production will combine to make the Missouri River barges leaving this port one of the most vital transportation links in the worldwide fight against hunger," he declared.

He said the food for peace act enacted by Congress this year "is one of the most significant pieces of agricultural legislation passed in recent years because it will open up even greater foreign markets and will join the four-year farm program in freeing diverted acreage for production."

He said First Congressional District farmers relied on foreign markets for about one-sixth of their sales last year, and the figure will increase to one-fourth this year.

He said also the 1967 feed grain program alone will mean a $10 million to $15 million increase in net income for Nebraska feed grain producers.

Tax Collectors Praised For Aid To Taxpayers

Washington (AP) — Tax collectors can be nice guys, too.

A House subcommittee that studied manpower in the federal government found the Internal Revenue Service was one of those agencies that tries hardest to be helpful.

For example, if you write the IRS a letter asking for information, you may get a telephone call from your friendly tax man.

The IRS has been experimenting with using the telephone to take care of relatively easily answered queries and thus quickly close out what could develop into fat additions to correspondence files.

The report, issued by a civil service subcommittee, also praised the IRS for forestalling inquiries by putting out useful information in advance. The subcommittee estimated the IRS cut inquiries on gasoline tax deductions by 50% at a savings of $202,000 by publishing tables giving the information for each state.

Mrs. Strasheim, Former Lincoln Resident, Dies

Mrs. Bernadette Jane Strasheim, 32, formerly of Lincoln, died Wednesday in Omaha, where she lived at 11106 Westover Rd.

Mrs. Strasheim, the wife of former Lincoln attorney Jerrold Strasheim, died of a brain hemorrhage in an Omaha hospital. She is also survived by sons Alexander, 4, and Frederick, two weeks.

The Strasheims were married in 1960 and lived in Lincoln for two years before moving to Omaha in 1962.

Strasheim was a 1957 honor graduate of the University of Nebraska College of Law. He was appointed law clerk to U.S. District Judge Robert Van Pelt that same year and in 1958 became an associate of the Lincoln firm, Mason, Knudsen, Dickeson and Berkheimer.

Strasheim succeeded Emmet L. Murphy in 1962 as federal bankruptcy referee for the U.S. District Court of Nebraska.

Old Mafia Killed; New Mafia Buries

Rome (AP) — The old Mafia used to do most of the killing in Sicily. Now the new Mafia is also doing the burying.

A parliamentary investigating commission has reported that the dread society of the lawless has changed its tactics of kidnapping for ransom, bombing for extortion and killing for vengeance.

It now has taken over much of the undertaking business and is running the florist shops, controlling the fruit and vegetable markets, and muscling in on municipal and Sicilian political offices.
